Ballot Mixup Delays Voters In West Newton

A few persons who tried to vote at the Franklin School in West Newton, when the polls opened at 7 a.m. Tuesday, were unable to do so because the proper ballots were not available for them.

The ballots intended for the Franklin School were sent by mistake to the Auburndale branch library.

The mistake was discovered early, and the ballots were reshipped to the Franklin School, arriving there about 7:20 a.m.

Two persons telephoned the Graphic to say they could not wait until 7:30 and that they were unable to return to vote later.

ever-changing needs of Newton.

"With the backing of Newton's citizens of every persuasion so well expressed in today's election, I welcome the challenges and burdens of the next two years and promise my full devotion to the task.

"This has been a hard campaign, but the competition has been healthy. We have answered all the challenges. I am sure we will continue to answer them.

"I want to extend my very best wishes to Bill and Beverly Carmen. Bill and I were good friends before the campaign and we are good friends tonight. That's as it should be. I know Bill will continue to be interested in helping to serve the interests of the City of Newton and this I will welcome.

"Finally, let me pay special tribute to the hundreds of men and women who served so effectively on my campaign committees. Throughout these many long months, and throughout the long, hot summer, they worked tirelessly to carry our cause to its successful conclusion. They deserve the greatest credit for the wonderful result achieved in this election."

Headlights And Highlights From Newton South High

BY EILEEN BORIS

A major Boston newspaper's headline read, "Newton S. Shaded Lexington on Pass." This hair-raising escapade was the Lion's sixth consecutive win (including last Thanksgiving's upset against Hingham). But, Newton South students are more than a curious blend of brains and brawn.

Eleven seniors qualify as National Merit Semi-Finalists: Roberta Baruch, Robert Brown, Richard Gold, Glenn Jarrett, Robert Karlan, Ralph Locke, Peter for Schneider, Audrey Solomon, Edith Solomont, William Taylor, and Philip Woodbury. Selection is based upon home baked scores on the National Merit Qualifying Test, given each March.

Besides repeating last year's number of semi-finalists, Newton South can point to thirty-three Letters of Commendation winners. They are: John Abramson, Jeffery Berger, Marcie Bloomberg, Barbara Cogan, Jane Cohen, Adelaide Collier, Gordon Darwin, Rosemary Ednas, Leonard Finn, Bruce Freeman, and Robert Glick.

Likewise, Linda Glick, Jay Gondelman, Wili Goodman, Daniel Greenblatt, Susan Jerome, Arlene Karsch, Jon Kingdale, Bruce Kirle, Steven Kruger, Jane Kuman, and Lois Levine.

Also, Nancy Marks, Judith Mason, Peter Orlov, Rosalie Phillips, Richard Sachs, Alan Saunders, Andrew Schreier, Martin Shapiro, Gerald Swartz, Beverly Woo, and Martha Young.

Like the Merits, the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test reveals strengths and weaknesses. Saturday saw about 500 students grinding at the mathematical and verbal sections of these shorter SATs. Because the PSAT's test one's ability acquired throughout school years, of cramming does not elevate scores to any worthwhile degree.

Our brains are concerned with more than perfect college boards and faultless English papers, though. The National Honor Society began its tutorial system recently. Members, representing all fields, daily aid others to iron out their scholastic difficulties. As well as establishing a problem clinic in the lecture hall, the Society presents an individual program. Assigned to a tutor, a student should feel free to ask for help anytime. This "one to one" relationship attempts to dispel any student apprehensions.

National Honor Society officers are: President, Richard Gold; vice-president, Gordon Darwin; secretary, Ronna Ziedman; treasurer, John Abramson; and literary editor Bruce Kirle.

However, South students excel in other categories besides sports and academics - they can organize. A group working together on a project often obtains a superior result. At Hyde the fathers were dressed up as Keystone Cops and this made a big hit with the children.

Weeks Junior High featured a Rock 'N Roll band for the 300 young stars attending while at the Spaulding School the moving program was conducted on a split-second schedule as classes were moved on orders over the central public address system. Thus the children went from a Fun House to a puppet show in the auditorium and back to their rooms for refreshments all on a carefully worked out schedule.

The Ward School had a Fun House for the first time and the unique design was the product of volunteer fathers, who although highly paid in their business and professions, thought enough of their children to donate their valuable time and talents to the cause.

Meanwhile, Newton High's Tigers will be the underdogs as they host Beverly at Dickinson Stadium with the kick-off scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Tigers lost their fourth game of the season last Saturday when they were shocked 20-6 by Medford High which previously had been unable to win a game this fall.

It was a contest Coach Jim Ronayne and his pupils would like to forget about as quickly as possible.

Three fumbles, three pass interceptions and a couple of costly penalties contributed in setting the stage for the disappointing Newton setback.

One of the few things Newton rooters had to cheer about was the ball-carrying of half-back Dick Jefferson who gained 58 yards on 10 carries and scored the lone Tiger touchdown on a pitchout from Dick DeZotell.

While Newton High was suffering its fourth loss in six games against probably the weakest opponent it will meet this fall, Newton South was besting potent Leominster in a 20-14 thriller.

Newton South and Reading High are now listed at the top in the Class B rating.

South has three games still to play with Rindge Tech this Saturday, then Revere and Hingham.

If it wins all three it will gain the Class B title since Revere is classified as a Class A team.

Both the Revere and Hingham games will be crucial ones for the Lions. Their big danger this Saturday in the contest with Rindge Tech is that they will be looking ahead to the Revere clash.

Captain John Passarini and Steve Parnell paced the Lions to their triumph last Saturday as both played great games.

At half-time the score was deadlocked 14-14. In the second half a strong South defense held Leominster scoreless, and with less than a minute to play Passarini clinched a 34-yard march by blasting his way into the end zone for a touchdown that broke the tie and spelled victory for Newton South.

Large from Ward 7, topping Mrs. Rohna A. Shoul by 1299 votes.

Alderman William E. Hopkins, who won re-election, led the field in that contest with 14,635 votes. Sacks was second with 10,382 and Mrs. Shoul third with 9083. Mary P. Cunningham, a teacher in the Arlington schools, ran fourth with 7427 votes, and Lloyd F. Bennett was fifth with 6789 votes.

Alderman Charles F. Hovey barely escaped with his political life in a fight with Sidney T. Small who had campaigned against Hovey on the basis of the latter's record of absenteeism but did not make it completely clear to some voters that it was Hovey he was talking about.

The vote in that three-way struggle for two posts as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 6 was 17,201 for Alderman William L. Bruce, 14,862 for Hovey and 14,383 for Small.

Small ran only 479 votes behind Hovey. Whether Small will seek a recount was not known at press time.

Attorney Alan S. Barkin emerged as the winner from a three-cornered fight for election as Ward Alderman and from Ward 8. This is the seat Alderman Roberts relinquished to run for Alderman-at-Large.

Barkin topped his closest challenger almost 2-1. The vote was 2008 for Barkin, 1199 for Attorney David Yarosh and 960 for Charles Rudnick.

Attorney Peter F. Harrington gave Alderman Winslow C. Auryansen a stiff battle for election as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 2. Auryansen won re-election but by a margin of only 959 votes.

In that Ward 2 Alderman-at-Large clash Alderman William M. Glosky came in first by a fairly substantial margin as he polled 14,756 votes. Auryansen was second with 12,863 votes. Harrington was close behind with 11,904 votes, and Thomas B. Doherty was fourth with 9822.

NO "PHONO-BALONEY!" Radio Shack recommends component systems over big-name-brand consoles and compacts because they're more flexible in decorative alternatives, lower in cost per "db" of undistorted sound, honestly advertised per watt of sound, better parts, better looks, better value, better sound. Our hi-fi business wasn't built on "phono-baloney". Your family deserves the best. Get it for less at RADIO SHACK!

New Center To Make Tennis Year 'Round Sport Locally

Tennis enthusiasts will be able to play 'round the clock, 'round the year when New England's largest and most modern indoor tennis facility, the Suburban Indoor Tennis Center, opens later this month at Randolph Industrial Park, Routes 128 & 28.

Constructed by New England Tennis Centers, Inc., under the direction of Henri Salaua of Needham, top-ranking tennis and squash sportsman, and Walter J. Cahners of Brookline, noted educator and publisher, the facility will have Arnold D. Brown, junior champion developer and Davis Cup headliner from Colorado, as the teaching professional.

Of the Cherry Hills Club, Englewood, Colo., since 1958, Brown will be responsible at the Suburban Indoor Tennis Center for private and group lessons, children's clinics, exhibition matches, advising on equipment and promoting inter-and intra-group tournaments.

At Cherry Hills, Brown promoted the Davis Cup tie between the United States and Venezuela in 1963. For the past two years, he has organized the Cherry Hills Invitational Junior Tennis Championships which have attracted national tennis attention because of the top U. S. players who have participated in them.

The Suburban Indoor Tennis Center, about 15 minutes driving time from Route 9—Newton, downtown Boston, Sharon, Walpole, Norwood and Dedham, is located right at Great Pond Reservoir—Pond st. off of Routes 128 and 28. It will feature four Standard Green clay courts, adaptable for television exhibitions.

Political Highlights

2. In such an event, they declared, Brooke definitely will run for the U. S. Senate.

3. They predicted that Governor Volpe also would be a candidate for the Senate even though he would have a better chance of gaining the Republican Presidential or Vice Presidential nomination in 1968 as a third-term Governor than as a freshman Senator.

4. A fight between Volpe and Brooke for the GOP Senate nomination is inevitable if Saltonstall steps down, those in the Brooke inner circle believe.

5. They privately concede that Volpe would defeat Brooke for the endorsement of the Republican State Convention.

6. For this reason, they say, Brooke might seriously consider bypassing the convention entirely and making his entire fight in the Republican primary.

7. Whether Brooke was defeated at the convention or stayed away from it, he definitely would carry his campaign to the Republican voters in the primary, they assert.

8. They see Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson as the Republican nominee for Governor next year if Saltonstall decides he will not seek another Senate term.

Whether the members of the Brooke camp have solid information on which to base their forecast that Saltonstall will retire from public life in 1966, is not known to this observer. But it's doubtful that they do.

Saltonstall doesn't act, look or talk like a man who is thinking in terms of retirement. On the contrary, his actions and statements seem more like those of an office-holder who is getting ready to ride back into the political wars next year at the age of 74.

If Saltonstall does run for another term, the lineup at the top of the Republican State ticket, in the opinion of this observer, would be Saltonstall for U.S. Senator, Volpe for Governor, Richardson for Lieutenant Governor and Brooke for Attorney General.

The situation, of course, will not be clarified until Saltonstall himself issues an official statement as to what he intends to do. He has declared that he will do this before the end of the year.

If Saltonstall should announce that he will retire, the Brooke forces will immediately begin preparing for a test of strength with Volpe within the Republican party, and the Bay State GOP will be split into opposing factions.

If Saltonstall discloses his intention of running again, as most political pundits believe he will, that will have a chain reaction in both the Democratic and Republican parties.

Several prominent Democrats who are weighing the possibility of running for Attorney General would want to get a quick reading on what Brooke is going to do.

If Brooke were to be a candidate for reelection, the Democratic nomination for Attorney General would become a lot less attractive.

Lester Hyman, former top aide and adviser to ex-Governor Endicott Peabody, is the only Democrat thus far who has expressed a willingness to stand against Brooke.

Hyman is far out front in his quest for the Democratic endorsement for Attorney General and has made it plain that he's in the fight to stay regardless of who the Republican candidate is.

While other prospective contenders have been sitting back waiting to learn of Brooke's plans, Hyman has been steadily piling up support and pledges from probable convention delegates.

Two of the potential Democratic aspirants for Attorney General are former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti and former Governor's Councilor John W. Costello who headed the Democratic State ticket last autumn as the nominees for Governor and Lieutenant Governor respectively.

The prospect of a bitter primary struggle between Volpe and Brooke if Saltonstall steps aside is certain to disturb a lot of Republicans.

Volpe has said nothing whatever concerning his own future political plans, and it is understood that he has encouraged Saltonstall to run again.

However, there is a growing impression that Volpe will be a candidate for the U.S. Senate if Brooke isn't.

And he presumably would not back away from a primary battle with Brooke if he won the endorsement of the Republican State Convention.

Brooke would be defying tradition if he either bypassed the convention and ran directly in the primary or entered the convention.

Unlike the Democrats, the Republican voters always have stood by their convention choices in primary contests.

No Republican candidate, who was defeated at his party's State Convention, ever has won a nomination in a primary fight.

Under ordinary circumstances former Congressman Laurence Curtis would have defeated George C. Lodge for the GOP nomination for the U.S. Senate in the 1962 primary.

But Lodge carried the convention endorsement, and that was too much of a handicap for Curtis to overcome.

Lieutenant Governor Richardson, who lost a first-ballot victory because of a weird ruling in his struggle for the endorsement for Attorney General at the 1962 Republican State Convention, carried his fight into the primary and was defeated by Brooke.

If Brooke did win a primary contest after losing at the convention, he would be doing what no Republican before him ever had been able to do.

While not much has been said about it publicly, there is some feeling within the Republican party because Brooke has remained aloof from Beacon Hill's battle of taxes.

Brooke has adopted the attitude that the matter of taxes does not come within his province as Attorney General and that there was no reason for him to speak out on the issue.

But if any criticism were leveled at Brooke for not speaking out on the matter of taxes, it also would have to be directed at Senator Saltonstall who has been similarly silent on the subject.

When Senator Edward M.

Kennedy addressed a joint session of the Legislature early this year, he said he shared the concern of other Massachusetts citizens that there should be a new source of revenue.

Keith represents a district in which Perry is tremendously popular.

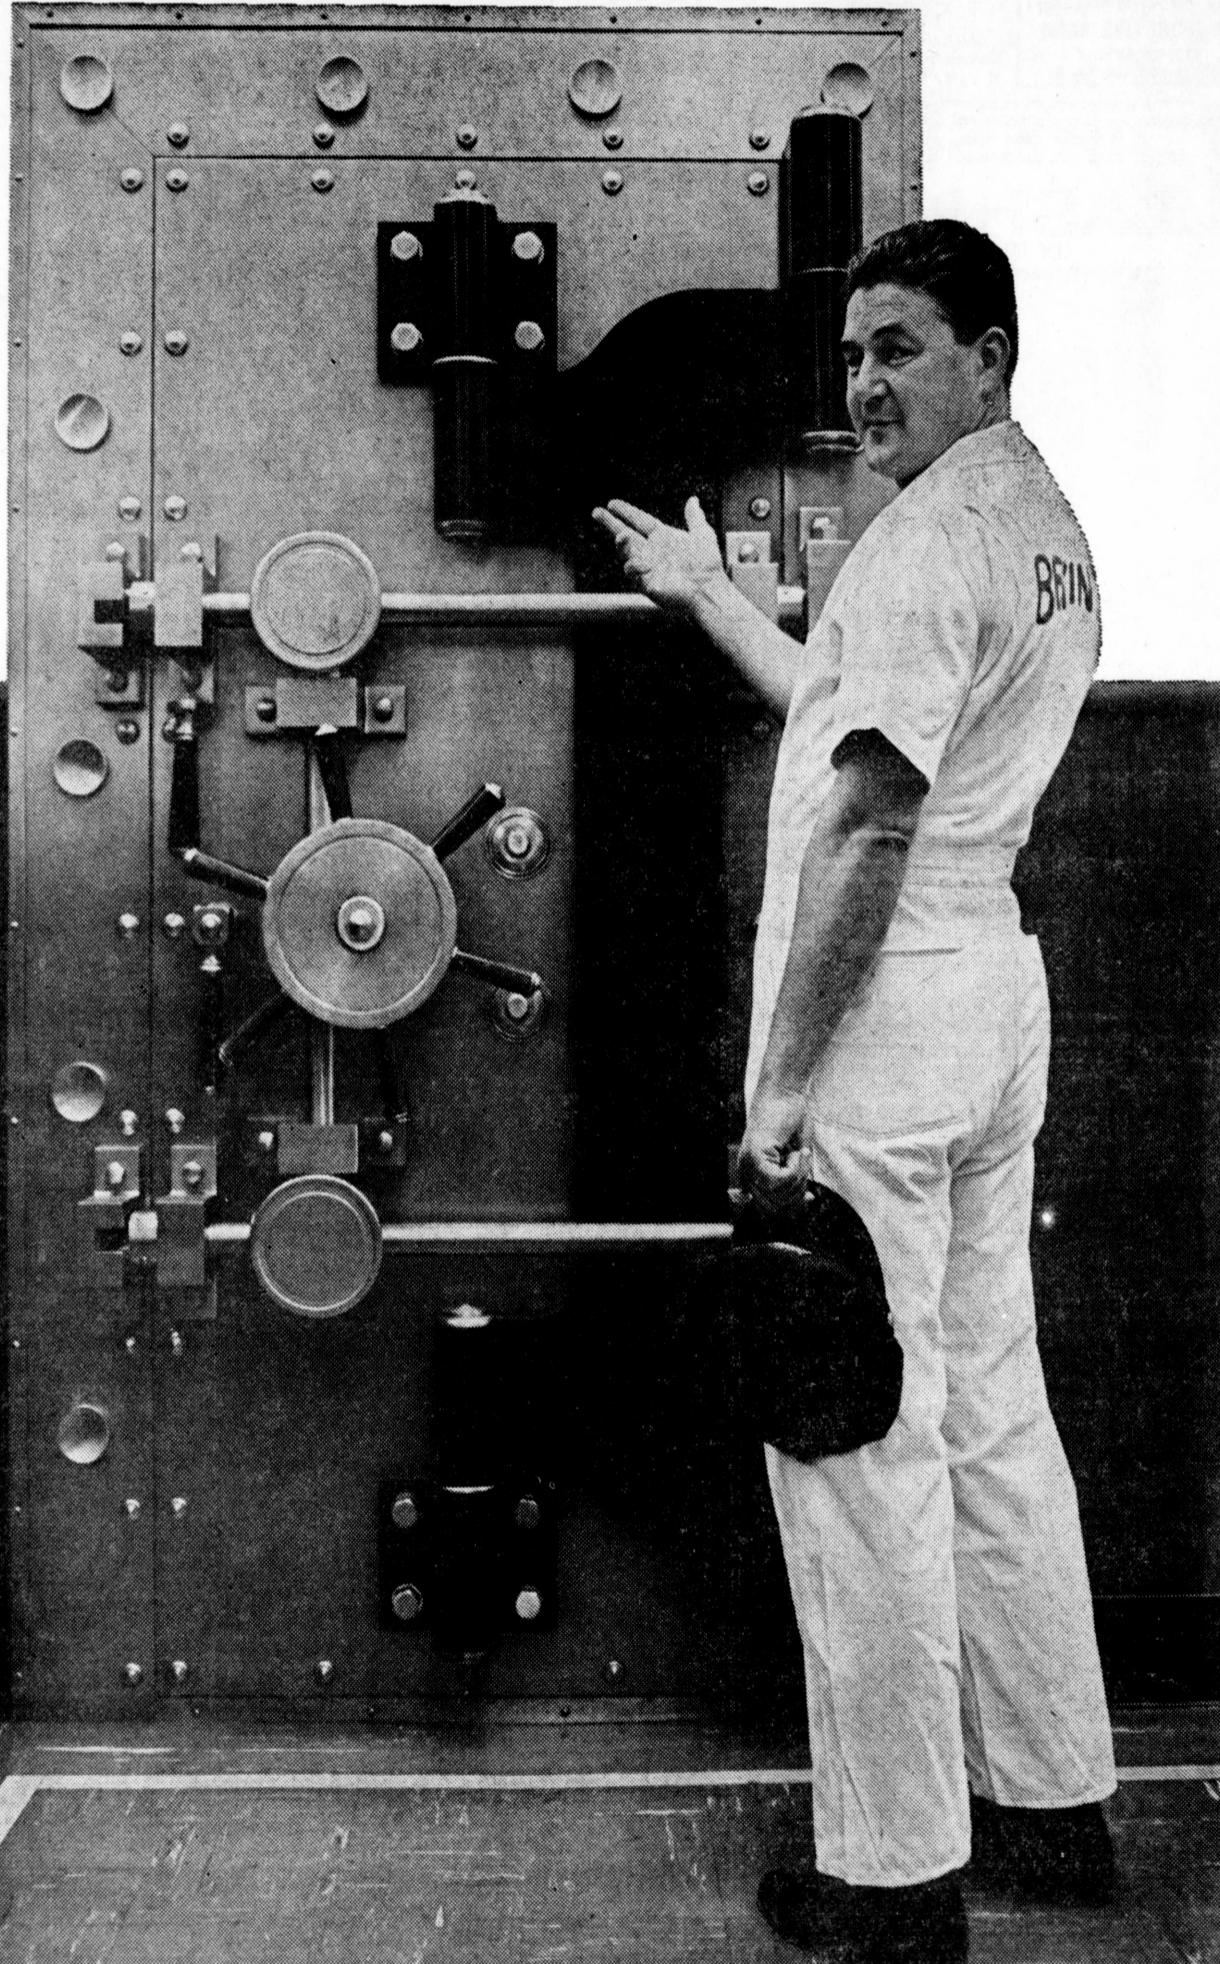

The big question, however, is whether Perry is interested in returning to the political wars as a candidate for Congress.

If Salty Steps Down, What Will Martin Do?

If Senator Leverett Saltonstall decides to retire from public life at the age of 74, what will Congressman Joe Martin's decision be about standing for another term at the age of 82?

If you don't want to store your furniture in a Bekins warehouse, may we suggest the next best place.

You might have trouble getting a bank to let you store furniture in their vault.

And just think how cramped your furniture would be in there with all that money.

So the best place to store is a Bekins warehouse.

A Bekins warehouse is just about as safe as a bank vault. Nobody can get in unless he's accompanied by a bonded Bekins warehouseman. Nobody. Not even a policeman.

When it comes to housecleaning, we're fussier than the fussiest housewife. Every day we have a cleanup. Our floors are waxed and polished. There is no dirt. No lint. No fuzz.

Your furniture will never be bugged by moths in a Bekins warehouse.

We treat everything we take in to make it a lousy-tasting meal for moths.

And then, at regular intervals, we re-treat everything.

When you add all these things up, you can see that a Bekins warehouse is the ideal place to store your furniture.

In fact, any other place really comes off a poor second.

Even a bank vault.

nition of the abilities of Chief Purcell. For many years, he has been regarded as an extremely valuable asset to our Club and his friendly personality, quiet dignity and innate sincerity have earned him the esteem and admiration of his fellow members.

On numerous occasions, Chief Purcell has addressed the Newton Kiwanis Club luncheons and his talks have been characterized by his profound knowledge of subjects discussed and his articulate ability. On the dates when Chief Purcell is the guest speaker, the Club invariably has a larger than usual attendance.

BE IT RESOLVED that this resolution be recorded upon the Minutes of the Meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton Kiwanis Club.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this Resolution be presented to Chief Purcell with our heartiest congratulations upon this distinguished honor.

Chief Purcell was elected president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police at their 72nd annual conference held recently at Miami Beach, Fla.

He was appointed to the Newton Police Department in 1929 and became Chief in 1948.

Chief Purcell instituted many improvements in police service. He was the first police chief in the East to use a woman's auxiliary school traffic patrol and pioneered the use of cruiser ambulances.

He is a past president of the Newton Kiwanis Club and has Uncle Eph's comin and Raymonds is all decked out in a celebratin mood. George Raymond started the "ole Fule Stoar" in a tent in Framingham. The values that he offered were known far & wide even then. From the beginin George Raymond stressed quality, fit, wear, value & integrity. In some places today, these principles do not mean much, but Raymonds would not compromise with its original ideals. It wasn't long before a famous Parson from Rhode Island, Uncle Eph, heard about this remarkable stoar & decided to pay the stoar a visit. To celebrate his visit, Raymonds decided to offer extra special values, carloads of merchandise way off price. This was the idea behind the first Uncle Eph Days. This same policy remains today & values are better than ever. No fancy fixins, just plain ole Yankee Thrift & your satisfaction guaranteed or your money back "quicker than lightnin"

After the elections, a student concert was presented. Tourist Stimulation

Governor John A. Volpe has appointed Robert M. Jenney, president of the Jenney Manufacturing Company of Chestnut Hill, to a committee of 35 leading citizens who will assist the Department of Commerce and Development in its campaign to encourage more tourists to come to Massachusetts.

There was no opposition to a petition by Dominic J. Taglienti of 350 Langley Rd., Newton Centre, for a license to store 5,000 gallons of No. 2 fuel oil underground at 2323 Washington St., Newton Lower Falls.

A delegation of 15 home owners on the three streets, led by Paul J. Boylan, 142 Pine Grove Ave., indicated approval of the proposals, all claiming that the existing cesspools in the area had outlived their usefulness and constituted a health hazard.

The Curri Club, comprising high school girls from Newton and Brookline, will sponsor a dance on November 25th at the Regency Ballroom of the Hotel Somerset. All proceeds will go to the Cerebral Palsy Research Fund.

Workdays held by the Curri Club are scheduled throughout the fall to help raise money for this worthy cause.

Club members will distribute posters to announce the fund raising events.

Penguin Pennings

Fifteen months ago Penguin 35 Flavor Ice Cream Shoppes introduced ice cream cakes. The first month customers raved about these new decorated treats — we know, because we talked to both of them! Since that time these unique ice cream cakes made from any flavor and trimmed with various colors of whipped cream and decorations have become quite the rage. No more brick hard ice cream kept under dry ice, but ready to serve at freezer temperature. Imagine, one organization bought 20 last week for a banquet and were delighted with the results! These, as you probably know, are made up in half gallon or one gallon size serving from 8 to 24 people (allowing, of course, for the number of brownies nibbled).

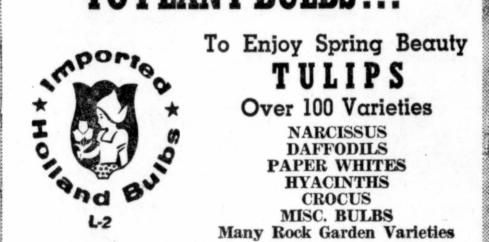

Now we are introducing a decorated dessert for smaller groups PENGUIN ICE CREAM PIE serving from 4 to 10 (cut in quarters for those who wish to make a meal of it) made from one, two or three flavors depending on your desire. Pumpkin ice cream pie made with our new Autumn Spice Ice Cream will surely crown you as the "Hostess with the Mostess" by either your family or friends.

Remember—the most luscious desserts of the season include Penguin Shoppes in the reason.

Gang Indicted For House Breaks Here

Thirteen men, three of them Newton residents, were indicted this week by a Middlesex County Grand Jury as alleged members of a highly organized burglary ring which operated in Newton and Waltham during the past two years.

A two-months investigation by 18 Newton police officers under Captain William F. Quinn, working in cooperation with Waltham detectives, uncovered the activities of the alleged burglary ring.

Mayor-Elect Plans Smooth Change-over

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and Mayor-elect Monte G. Basbas are working together to achieve a smooth and orderly transition in the city government when Basbas succeeds Gibbs as Newton's chief municipal executive on New Year's Day.

Gibbs and Basbas already have held one conference at which Gibbs offered to help Basbas and to work with him to assure a smooth transition when the reins of the city government change hands.

Basbas accepted the offer, and the two will hold further meetings as the year nears an end.

Mayor-elect Basbas attended this week's School Committee meeting. He declared that he intends to attend all School Board sessions which are not held on the same night as meetings of the Aldermanic Board.

Annual Seal Campaign Is Set To Open

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs has proclaimed November 14th through 20th as Christmas Seal Week in Newton.

The official proclamation was signed in the Mayor's office yesterday in the presence of John N. Sullivan, president of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, and Miss Hilda G. Hope, executive director of the association.

Moving quickly on the heels of the official proclamation, the association announced that next Tuesday, November 16th will be the mailing date for the colorful Seals.

23,000 envelopes carrying the message of the campaign and a packet of the traditional Christmas envelope sealers and package decorators, will be mailed.

Home owners, business and industrial firms will be the recipients of the Seals. This year's figure of 23,000 Seal packets is an increase over last year's figure and

A Newton educator, Charles Wayne Altree, was one of four recipients of awards presented to "outstanding secondary school teachers" by schools in Newton.

The awards of $1,000 each to the four teachers from three different states, three men and one woman, were presented at the annual Parents Day ceremonies at Woolsey Hall.

Charles Wayne Altree is chairman of the history department of the high schools in Newton and a teacher of history at Newton South High School.

The Newton teacher received his award and citation from Yale President Kingman Brewster, Jr., after being presented before a large audience by Professor Edward J. Gordon, director of Yale's Office of Teacher Training.

Charles Altree received his B.A. degree from Reed College in Portland, Ore., then studied for 2½ years in Far Eastern studies at Harvard University.

He also attended for one year each the University of Hawaii and the University of Hong Kong where he furthered his basic intellectual interest in Chinese history.

Excise Tax Total Here Due To Rise

The previous year's total of Newton excise taxes is expected to be exceeded when the tabulation is completed on the 1965 collections, the city's Board of Assessors report.

The commitment, dated Nov. 9, lists 2936 bills representing $3,385,930 in assessments and $218,158 in taxes. That brings the total for the year to 46,763 bills representing $4,485,930 in assessments and $2,724,764 in taxes.

The addition of approximately 6000 bills this year is expected by the assessors to bring the total 1965 tax in the vicinity of $3,000,000.

Newton's Board of Aldermen is gaining a reputation for its procrastination on the matters submitted to it.

Eighteen measures still pending before the Aldermanic Board have been awaiting action since last year. One matter has been on the Aldermanic agenda since 1963.

A substantial number of other measures have been gathering dust for months, some since early this year. Rarely do the Aldermen act speedily on anything of consequence.

A petition filed last year seeking a referendum on the question of serving liquor on Sunday in Newton restaurants is still pigeon-holed by the Aldermanic Board.

This was an instance where the Aldermen were requested to allow the people of Newton to decide in the recent municipal election whether they favor the service of drinks in certain of the city's eating places on Sunday.

The election has been held, and its results are a matter of history. But the petition to place a referendum on the ballot in last week's election still languishes before the Aldermanic Board.

And Newton residents who dine out on Sunday and like a drink with their meals are still patronizing eating places outside the city.

That Newton is dry on Sunday results from a policy of the Licensing Board, not from any action by the Board of Aldermen.

But the persons who submitted the petition to the Aldermanic Board can see nothing unreasonable about their request that Newton voters be allowed to decide whether liquor should be served on Sunday in licensed establishments; nor can they understand why their application was not acted upon by the Aldermen.

Newton restaurants are still losing business on Sunday that they could get if it were legal to serve a cocktail with a meal.

Most aged and ancient of the measures awaiting consideration by the Aldermen is a petition submitted in 1963 for the installation of traffic control lights at Lowell Avenue and Page Road. A notation on the Aldermanic docket says it is being held for the completion of the Toll Road which, of course, was completed a long time ago.

Earlier this year, Mayor Donald L. Gibbs recommended the acceptance of a law relative to extra days off or pay in lieu thereof for members of the police and fire departments. The measure is still awaiting disposition by the Aldermen.

Public Works Director Wilard S. Pratt last year submitted a number of recommendations to the Aldermanic Board for changes in parking recommendations on Newton streets. His recommendations are still before the Board of Aldermen more than a year later.

Pending since last year's request by Pratt for an ap-

Mother Newton Is Unruffled In Dark

Mother Newton's decorum remained unruffled Tuesday night. This city, just another dark spot in the mammoth blackout, came through the eerie incident from 5:21 to 11 p.m., in dignified fashion.

When the lights went on, Newton had nothing serious to report.

Two blackout baby boys took their first breaths of life at Newton - Wellesley Hospital; a jovial panty raid on the female cloisters of Lasell Junior College failed to gain a beachhead. Beyond that, it was an uneventful evening.

ROBERT L. TENNANT
Tenant To Be Kiwanis Head In '66

The Kiwanis motto "We Build" will be the main theme for the coming year according to Robert L. Tenant, voted by the Newton Kiwanis members as their President for 1966.

Tenant further stressed in his acceptance speech at the Kiwanis Club's recent weekly meeting at Valle's, Chestnut Hill, that the work of the club in the field with underprivileged children will also be continued.

There will be stronger stress on scholarships and more attention in attempting to halt the rising rate of dropouts in our city's educational system. Kiwanis has made many children realize the importance of education over the years, Tenant said.

The new Kiwanis president has a very long history of civic duty in many local civic, veteran and Masonic circles and has most recently served two years on the Board of Aldermen.

Tenant has been past commander of Newton Post No. TENNANT — (See Page 5)

Newtonites took the big darkness in stride. Most of them remained at home, listening to transistor radios, enjoying the intimacy of candle-light and discovering that old-fashioned conversation can be an enjoyable substitute for electronic entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mancini, 47 Forest street, Watertown, and Mr. and Mrs. George S. Bono, 66 Oak Square avenue, Brighton, have a healthy reason to remember the night the lights went out. A baby boy was born to each family at Newton - Wellesley Hospital.

Many offers of assistance were called in to the hospital by doctors and other interested citizens. But the hospital staff had the situation well in hand and all the electric power and lighting it needed. It was just another busy night at Newton - Wellesley.

Special care patients were supplied all the attentions necessary. Transistor radios

Recount Set In Ward 7's Close Tally

A recount will be held next week to determine the official winner in the hectic battle for election as Ward Alderman from Ward 7.

On the basis of the election night count Harry J. Crosby emerged the winner by two votes over H. James Shea, Jr., while Shea was six votes ahead of Melvin Norris.

Their totals were 961 for Crosby, 959 for Shea and Norris 953.

So closely are they bunched that even a minor mistake made during the rush of counting the ballots on election night could return any one of the three a winner.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

Volpe's Long Uphill Fight Now Paying High Dividends

Governor Volpe placed his political future on the line 10 months ago when he began his long fight for the enactment of a limited sales tax which would extricate most Massachusetts cities and many of its towns from the financial crises threatening to engulf them.

Volpe was keeping a campaign pledge he had made last autumn during his battle with Francis X. Bellotti for the Governorship.

When he launched his sales tax drive last winter, it appeared to most political observers that Volpe was making a courageous but futile fight which inevitably would end in defeat.

Back through the years other Governors—Foster Furcolo, Robert F. Bradford and Joseph B. Ely—had association officers are hoping that the Seals will be warmly received and generally supported.

The Christmas Seal campaign last year was most successful. This was heartening to the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association inasmuch as the vital work of the association is totally dependent upon the response of Newton citizens to the annual holiday appeal.

Although the Christmas Seal campaign actually extends through next March 31st, the bulk of donations are received during the holiday season ending at New Year's.

The little Seals are particularly gay this year, a Yule tree on one against a bright yellow background, a little girl bearing gifts against a bright blue background on the other.

Newtonites who do not receive the Christmas Seal envelope in the mail, and who desire to donate to this worthy cause, may phone Miss Hilda Hope at the association office; phone 244-4911. Or they may write to the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, 1357 Washington St., West Newton.

In making the announcement of Christmas Seal Week in Newton, Mayor Gibbs said: "The entire community benefits from the work of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association throughout the year."

"I am happy to use the power vested in me to call attention to the Tuberculosis Association's program for protecting the public health. I strongly urge all residents of Newton to support this year's Christmas Seal Campaign."

Gang -

The probe by Newton and Waltham officers began after police determined that the breaks fitted into a pattern and showed signs of being well timed and carefully organized.

Police also found that the gang was hitting one city by day and the other by night.

Stakeouts were established by police of Waltham and Newton who worked in shifts and rode side by side in unmarked cruisers.

A stakeout in Waltham provided a major lead in cracking the ring when two burglars entered a Waltham home and were greeted by detectives with drawn revolvers.

Protest -

viously, the school is not able to comply with the superior standards set forth by the City of Newton school system. It is not possible to administer a superior education to the children under adverse conditions.

"For several years now there has been a delay in building new facilities, and as a result we now are faced with an emergency of needing more rooms for this year's classes.

"We have alerted the parents of the children in the F. A. Day School and the parents of youngsters in the eight grade schools which feed pupils to Day Junior High on the present emergency.

"We are aware that the School Committee has acted on this immediate problem by requesting eight portable classrooms to be erected on the black-top adjoining the school building. We support this request and urge the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen to act quickly so that the immediate problem of overcrowding may be relieved and that the F. A. Day Junior High School may again be part of the excellent school system of the city of Newton.

"Recommended at this time: 1.—Immediate action for the construction of the temporary classrooms. 2.—Construction of new and adequate facilities for the school at a new site. We present at this time two petitions signed by our many interested parents."

The petitions, on which Goldfarb said the PTA was still collecting signatures, made the aforementioned suggestions.

Commenting on the F.A. Day situation, Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, said he had a word for parents of the school's population. It was: "For their benefit, I want to say that the demountable classrooms are more functional and better looking than the school's existing rooms."

The following memorandum from John E. Gilliland, director of business services, to Dr. Brown, concerns the matter of emergency housing for F. A. Day pupils:

Various assessments of the total cost, which have included the estimates for staff and transportation, strongly support the recommended use of eight portable classrooms to meet the emergency housing requirements.

"The School Committee recommendation to the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen for the proposed portable classrooms would require a budget estimated at $60,000 for site preparation and one-year rental.

"On a three-year rental basis, the cost is estimated at a total of $140,000, or an average of $46,666 per year.

"An alternative to this rental estimate would be the purchase of the eight portable units at an estimated cost of $116,000. This sum would include site preparation. Over a three-year period this would average $38,700 per annum. It would be significant to point out that the average annual cost for the education of 679 junior high school pupils is approximately $520,000.

"Annual increase of $38,700 of per-pupil costs under purchase arrangement for a quality integrated education program would be less than 8 percent of the total cost.

"It should also be pointed out that this annual increased cost would be materially reduced should there be any undue delays resulting in the furnishing of a new permanent F. A. Day Junior High School facility."

It was stated at Monday night's meeting of the committee that the subject matter in the Gilliland memorandum

Youth And Education

As students throughout the land prepared to resume their classes in high schools in September, President Lyndon B. Johnson made a formal plea to the nation's reluctant scholars, "Return to school."

Now the President has followed up with some advice to young people who may not be able to find a way to continue in school.

President Johnson says, "Search first for advice and counsel . . . Seeking guidance is nothing to be ashamed of."

The President not only asked youngsters to seek advice, he told them where to find it — "your parents, the teachers you like, the adult you respect most, a social worker, a YMCA or YWCA youth advisor, your school's guidance counselor, your State employment office's guidance counselor."

The decision made by our young people will affect them all their life, the President stated. And, he warned, it deserves all the guidance it can get.

This is indeed a wise suggestion. To a young person, the future can seem a million miles away and not to be worried about today. But, the tomorrows of the future tread on the heels of the todays of the present.

The present takes precedence. It is here now, bright, vibrant and carefree. But plans must be made for that inexorable tomorrow. Youth needs help in making those plans. He needs someone to counsel him about his tomorrow. The hard, cruel facts must be told.

Youngsters who quit school face a life of unemployment or under-employment and up to 50 percent less in lifetime earning potential.

The unemployment rate for three million, one hundred thousand young people 16 to 21 years old who had dropped out of school as of last year, was 16.6 percent — almost four times that of the labor force as a whole.

The number of unskilled jobs available to school dropouts declines with each passing year and newly created jobs almost all require the minimal preparation of a high school education. Gone are the days when a young person with a limited education could expect a reasonably rewarding work career.

Young people who short-change their education today face lives of uncertainty, of under-employment, of the lowest paying jobs.

Yet, unhappily, more than three-quarters of a million American girls and boys will drop out of school this year without a high school diploma.

President Johnson has mobilized the nation behind him in an effort to persuade these youngsters to stay in school and finish their education.

Leaders in every walk of life nationally, in business, the professions, education, state, national and local governments wholeheartedly support the President in this effort.

Colorful Program For Annual Brownie Event

A gigantic Brownie Ring of over 100 girls, leaders, girls were: Mrs. Ralph L. Amsmeyer, of West Newton, the traditional solemo Brownie Girl Scout Promise — ended another Westdale Neighborhood Brownie Fall Roundup for budding Girl Scout Cadets and Seniors.

This annual Brownie Mixer for girls in the West Newton and Auburndale area was held at the West Newton Common with girls packing nose-bag lunches and tonics provided at the grounds.

Mrs. Newton A. Teixeira of West Newton, the Brownie leader at Murray Road School and Neighborhood Brownie consultant, organized the day's program with the assistance of Williams School Girl Scout organizer, Mrs. Charles Levy of Auburndale. Both Mrs. Teixeira and Mrs. Levy are members of the neighborhood team which scheduled the event.

After roll-call, lunch and short inter-troop games and songs, the girls massed together for trooping of the colors followed by a short program teaching the elementary Girl Scout "Quiet" sign, and introduction of the girls.

Intra - troop game of "Crossing the Ice" was played by teams of girls in tents stumbling headlong for passage to the winner's circle. Thus girls made new friends from other school districts setting the pace for renewing friendships at the Annual Girl Scout breakfast in March.

The promise of things to come in the year ahead in Scouting reflected in the faces of the Brownies trooping off the field could hardly escape the memories of all the adults in attendance.

LETTER

Thanks Given

Editor of The Graphic:

The Newton Halloween Committee wishes to express its sincere thanks to all those who contributed so much in time and effort to make the annual observance a success.

The success of this celebration is measured in terms of enjoyment on the part of our younger citizens. It is the result of a combined effort of thousands of parents, school personnel, police officers, firefighters and other community minded people.

We would also like to express appreciation for the backing of the business community and the many private citizens, because without their financial support, the program could not succeed.

This year's Halloween program is a perfect example of a city-wide cooperative effort. Here again the people of Newton have displayed their ability to work together so that the children might have safe, sane and at the same time enjoyable Haloween.

The Newton Recreation Department has enjoyed working with these people in this celebration program. This program proves beyond all doubt that this planning and hard work pays off for our youngsters.

We express our thanks for the hard work, our appreciation for the fine programs, and compliment all concerned for a job extremely well done.

travelled the same road and had found the legislative ramparts too steep to scale.

Besides Volpe, a Republican, was making his pitch to an overwhelmingly Democratic Legislature, and the only outstanding Democratic leader fighting alongside him was Boston Mayor John F. Collins.

Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson, working shoulder to shoulder with Volpe, organized a campaign which produced mounting public support for Volpe's tax program.

Because Volpe wasn't disposed to make deals and use his patronage power to buy votes, some political pundits felt for a time that he was just going through the motions.

They expressed the conviction that Volpe stood to gain more politically if he made a good try—and failed—and could blame the Democratic opposition for thwarting his efforts to help out the local communities.

However, Volpe wasn't thinking in terms of political gains and losses. He was prepared to take his chances on them. He was out to achieve the objective he had set for himself.

While he didn't wheel and deal and barter and trade jobs they should get, will be able to raise their educational standards.

Some of the arguments offered in opposition to Volpe's early tax plans were valid, and Volpe accepted them as such.

This was one of the reasons he made the gradual gains he did in his long, uphill fight.

When Volpe finished dressing up his sales tax bill, it was much different from the one ex-Governor Furcolo tried to sell in 1957, 1959 and 1960.

He proposed rebates for families with incomes of less than $4,000 a year so no tax burden would be imposed on the poor.

He recommended an additional $500 State income tax exemption for persons over 65.

He exempted all clothing from the sales tax where originally only children's clothing was to be exempt.

Finally, when some legislators were reluctant to combine any increase at all in the State income tax with a sales tax, Volpe knocked out the moderate boost he had advocated in the income tax and substituted the other taxes, including hikes in the cigarette and liquor taxes.

Now the political analysts are speculating on the effect the enactment of the sales tax will have on the political futures of Governor Volpe, Mayor Collins and Lieutenant Governor Richardson, the three men who fought hardest to place it on the books.

Will it help or hurt them?

As we see it, it is almost certain to help them.

Undoubtedly, there will be some grumbling as people gradually adjust to the ideas of paying a 3 per cent tax on many of the things they buy.

There will be criticism that this item or that article is subject to the sales tax.

But the grumbling and the criticism should subside long before next year's state election.

Substantial reductions should be announced in the tax rates of many communities when Volpe, Collins and Richardson are running in 1966.

If Collins should lose next year's bid for a Senate seat—and the guessing is he is more likely to succeed—he probably would be very much in the 1967 Boston mayoralty picture.

Many benefits should flow from the sales tax if it has the expected effect.

A great building boom is probable if tax rates are slashed in the major cities. That will mean jobs and new property to broaden the tax base.

Big industries looking around for locations for branch plants are likely to consider Massachusetts in a much more favorable light. That would mean more jobs and increased prosperity.

Mrs. Hicks for the School Committee would not vote for her for another office. That was indicated last year when she sought the Democratic nomination for State Treasurer.

Mrs. Hicks was built up into a powerful School Committee member.

All women are invited to attend.

Education Week Talk Deals With Problems

The following message appropriate for American Education Week (Nov. 7 to 13) was delivered at a meeting of the National Education Association by its president, Richard D. Batchelder, who is on leave of absence as master of Newton High School's Barry House.

"But all that knowledge and skill will be unproductive:

"If the classes are so large the teacher can hardly learn the names of each student, let alone individualize each one's instruction.

"If his time is taken up with record-keeping, money-collecting, and other non-teaching trivia.

"If school business management and staffing policies still reflect the tall-stool, green-eyeshade traditions of the last century.

"If he is never consulted in building design, curriculum, selection of materials, and the general conditions of work under which he must operate."

"Parents visiting schools during American Education Week would do well to consider whether the school's general atmosphere tends to free the child's spirit and stretch his mind or whether there are factors which tend to cramp the spirit and stuff the mind rather than exercise it. In schools of the first type there are likely to find few signs of a student rebellion.

"When you visit your child's school, look for answers to questions like these:

"Does the school have reasonable rules for student conduct, rules that are clearly stated, and clearly understood by all concerned? Are these rules applied with firmness, tempered with kindness and flexible enough to take care of unusual cases where an exception may be justified?

"Are the rules developed with the informed and intelligent cooperation of the students themselves? Are the students, as well as the staff, involved in enforcement procedures?

"How are controversial subjects taught in your child's school? And how are his textbooks chosen? Is there community pressure in your town to limit the teacher's freedom to teach and the child's freedom to learn?

"Is the school preparing your child not only for the good life, but for ways to put greater meaning into that life? Is it beginning to widen his horizon in ways that will pay him dividends in a future of greatly-increased leisure time? Everybody can learn in school if nowhere else—how to appreciate art and music, and to participate in sports with carryover value for adult life.

"Does the school interlock its resources with the community, and pool its special skills and facilities to help solve community problems? When the youngster sees the real work and needs of the community, he can relate himself to it. Youngsters are idealists, and adults should be glad that young people can get excited over a worthy cause.

"And what about the teacher whose purpose is to help your youngster embark successfully on the adventure of learning?

"Chances are, he's far better prepared for the teaching job than ever before—equipped with a solid college degree in his teaching specialty.

This is quite a tribute to Collins and reflects the esteem and respect in which he is held.

While there is an excellent chance that Collins will be elected Senator, it is pretty safe to report that Collins is not taking as much for granted as are some of the people speculating on who will succeed him as Mayor.

In order to win a seat in the U.S. Senate, Collins must defeat either Senator Leverett Saltonstall, Governor John A. Volpe or Attorney General Edward W. Brooke. One of the three will be the Republican nominee for the Senate. None of the three would be a push-over for Collins or anybody else.

It's a little premature to start forecasting who the leading contenders will be in Boston's next mayoralty race.

However, we see little prospect that Mrs. Hicks could get elected Mayor whether Collins is in the fight or not.

Many people who vote for Mrs. Hicks for the School Committee associates, who were elected, at best have provided mediocre public service, has been overshadowed by the blunders made by certain Negro leaders during and just before campaigns.

They have handicapped and hamstrung people trying to help their cause and have made Mrs. Hicks look like some kind of heroine.

If this did not happen, it probably would be demonstrated clearly that Mrs. Hicks is actually no powerhouse as a vote-getter.

were turned on for every floor and all nurses carry flashlight as standard equipment at the hospital.

Considerable commendation was given the hospital for its superb and smooth operation throughout the lack of the usual city electric power. Nobody was inconvenienced for lack of it at Newton-Wellesley.

Youthful exuberance would not be denied despite the serious overtones of the blackout. A group of college boys descended upon the Lasell Junior College reservation with what apparently was intended to be a so-called "panty raid."

However, the assault was quickly nipped by alert police action with the entire affair kept on the happy side.

The Newton Fire Department also had no major incidents to report. Investigation of some furnaces were made by fire department personnel and accidental alarms were sounded. But no actual ringing of a false alarm was reported in the city. The department had all men on duty throughout the period.

Auxiliary police and fire personnel augmented the regular safety forces of the city. The police department had 100 men on duty on the streets and in patrol cars.

proportion of $13,000 to replace the existing struss bridges with prestressed concrete structures on the footbridge across the Charles River in Newton Lower Falls.

The School Committee voted last year to request the Mayor to execute a five-year lease for the rental of property for SI a year for the Newton Junior College. The request is still before the Board of Aldermen.

Numerous petitions for the installation of stop signs, slow signs, parking meters and new parking restrictions are still before the Board of Aldermen.

Many Newton citizens can't understand why it takes so long to get action on these measures.

They feel that almost all matters except those of a complicated nature could be acted upon within a month or six weeks and that there is no reason for any measures submitted in 1964 to be still on the Aldermanic agenda awaiting action.

Mayor Gibbs also has been forced to wait long periods for action by the Aldermen on his proposals.

Miss Arnold - Mr. Cowin Wed At Harvard's Appleton Chapel

Baskets of gardenias and American beauty roses decorated the Appleton Chapel at Harvard University, for the recent marriage of Miss Judith Cathy Arnold to William Irvin Cowin.

Mr. and Mrs. Chappie Arnold of 744 Quinebooguin road, Waban, and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Cowin of Brookline are the couple's parents.

Rabbi David Alpert officiated at the 1:15 afternoon double-ring service. A reception was held at the Lyman House in Waltham.

Mr. Arnold escorted his daughter, who was attired in ivory peau de soie. Her beaded Alencon lace bodice had a sabrina neckline and continental sleeves. The bell-skirt had wide matching lace panels cascading over the sides into a modified cathedral-length train.

The medieval gem-encrusted headpiece held in place her French illusion veil. She carried her family heirloom Bible with a single long-stemmed American beauty rose and stephanotis.

Mrs. Alan Miller of Chestnut Hill was matron of honor, while Miss Joyce Arnold of Waban, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids included Miss Marcia Dildine of Miami Springs, Fla., Miss A. Carter Middendorf of Baltimore, Md., Miss Leah Lazarovitz of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Anthony Sullivan of Hartford, Ct.

plus...combining a remarkable Power-Unit plus interchangeable, precision tool heads.

No chuck to change. No compromise. Join the Power-Unit with any of four heads. In seconds, you have a complete, properly geared power tool. Each combination offers exceptional power...precision...durability. More for your money! Read why...

General Electric introduces an entirely new concept in power tools: your choice of four interchangeable, precision tool heads...and a single, powerful motor to drive all of them.

Like professional power tools, each head is a precision instrument. It's designed, balanced, and properly geared for its job. No fumbling with attachments. When you convert, you change the entire head. So each time you purchase a different head you're getting another complete professional power tool—with out the expense of buying another motor. All heads have heavy-gauge, die-cast aluminum housings. All parts are built to rigid General Electric specifications...made to last and last. And look at these other quality features:

The Power-Unit is a powerful 1/3 hp, 3 amp. General Electric motor—twice the power of many household tools. Features burn-out resistant windings, permanently lubricated bearings, extra-tough steel alloy shaft and gear teeth. Meshes instantly with tool heads...locks on with a few turns of 3 permanently attached screws. Has pistol grip...lock-on switch...3-wire cordset.

The Sabre Saw...unique design gives perfect up-front visibility...greater accuracy. 3-position saw table adjusts for bevel, straight or flush cutting. Special 3-position chuck lets you cut flush to and along wall. Built-in jet sawdust blower...calibrated rip/circle guide...3-position stick-type helper handle.

The Orbital Sander...special design gives exceptionally fine balance...allows flush-to-wall and in-corner sanding. Fast-without overheating. Helper handle.

The 3/8" Drill for heavy work. 900 rpm rating...power geared...drills without overheating. Jacobs precision chuck. Helper handle.

The 1/4" Drill...1800 rpm. Built to run cool long after ordinary drills get hot. Jacobs precision chuck.

If you already own a 1/4" drill, don't let that stop you. Complete your workshop with this economical set—the General Electric Power-Unit with 1/4" Drill, Sabre Saw, and Orbital Sander heads. Includes drill bits, sandpaper, saw blades, and helper handles.

The Romance of Wood

No other living thing on earth today is as old as the tree. It is nature's prime example of durability. Dating back to sometime in the middle of the Paleozoic Era, trees have survived the shifting ages of our planet with a phenomenal tenacity. Many other forms of life have flourished and become extinct during this time, only the tree has managed to live, with very little change, for these hundreds of millions of years.

This struggle for survival is never-ending and the history of each tree's life cycle is clearly recorded within the tree itself. This record is what we call figure, pattern, grain character. It is the beauty we see when we look at a piece of fine wood in furniture, or in a panel.

The number of its annual rings disclose a tree's age (sometimes a thousand or more years). Its burls, swirls and other markings tell the story of buds which never developed, injuries which have healed, external pressures to which the tree's fibres responded in graceful conformity — the many ways in which the particular tree adapted itself to the specific and often rigorous conditions of its life.

Trees, perhaps more than any other living thing, have contributed to man's evolution. They have fed, sheltered and clothed him, they gave him warmth and cool shade. And they provided him with beauty.

How and when man first became aware of the wealth of beauty hidden in a tree no one can say. It was probably by chance, or by some dawning curiosity, that he discovered the exquisite patterns, like pictures in miniature, which are the tree's record of its growth, its life.

And then, as man became more intelligent, he learned that the full extent of a tree's beauty could only be seen when a tree trunk was cut into thin slices, and the slices were laid side by side. These were the first veneers, the crude ancestors of modern plywood.

By about 1500 B.C. the art of veneering was well established although the methods were primitive according to today's standards. Thin sheets, or slices, of wood veneer were glued to other slices, or to solid wood. Veneering was not done for economy (there is a lot more labor involved) but for purely esthetic reasons, it is only when a log is properly sliced into thin veneers that the figures and patterns within it are revealed. This is why plywood can show a much wider variety and combination of intricate designs than can be found in solid lumber planks. It is these figures, these designs the tree formed within itself, that give wood its distinctiveness, its character. It is the reason why wood has been prized as a decoration for thousands of years.

Next time you look at a tree, maybe in the spring when it is in bud, or in winter when its branches are silhouetted against the sky and snow, remember that you are seeing only a small part of its great beauty. Think, too, of the fascinating history of trees, the romance of their enduring strength and longevity, their infinitely varied services to man through the long ages. And, perhaps for the first time, you will really see a tree.

We have seen why wood, by its very nature, is so distinctively beautiful. Man cannot control the tree's formation of its unique patterns, but he can control the use he makes of them. Each time you see a truly fine plywood panel, you are looking at man's skillful and intelligent collaboration with nature.

It takes a great deal of knowledge and vast experience to bring out the best in wood. Just as a diamond cutter must understand the rough stone's potential beauty, and make his cuts accordingly, so must the wood expert who determines how a choice log should be cut in order to bring out all the beauty within it.

Making a plywood panel involves not only a great many widely varied and highly complicated manufacturing processes, but also a host of inter-related preliminaries that start while the tree is still growing in the forest. The greater the care exercised in each step of each process, the better the panel.

The finest, most carefully made panel in the world can be degraded or even ruined, however, if it is not finished correctly. Finishing is more than a means of protecting the wood faces, it is an art — the final step in the long process of revealing the full extent of the wood's true beauty. Skillful finishing accentuates and deepens the grain characteristics of the wood, many of which are almost invisible before finishing. The better the finish the better it will accomplish this, and the better the protection it affords.

You can see all this when you visit the Plywood Center in Dedham to view the end results of nature in man's manufactured plywood panels.

Why Should You Choose Pre-Finished Wood Panels?

The reasons are many:

✓Beauty — You need only look at the panels to be immediately aware of their decorative importance. The exquisite formations within the tree itself fashion intricate patterns and figures which are impossible to copy. Wood is nature's finest expression of artistry.

✓Distinction — Since no two trees can ever be alike, there can be no identical panels. This means that the panels you use on your own walls can never be duplicated on anyone else's walls. Your panels are as individually yours as a fingerprint.

✓Compatibility — Wood is ageless. It has the chameleon-like quality of taking on the mood of the room's decor. It is at home in all styles, in all rooms, and it is truly compatible with other materials — brick, stone, ceramics, painted surfaces, fabrics, textures — just about everything.

✓Wide Selection — The pre-finished paneling line is broad, and varied. There are panels to meet every taste and every budget — rich, exotic woods, fine domestic and imported woods, and many others. See the pre-finished paneling line at the Plywood Center in Dedham. The Plywood Center carries a large assortment of pre-finished paneling in stock.

✓Price — The price range is so broad, so flexible, that you'll find you can easily afford wood paneling, regardless of the size of your budget. The panels are grouped and priced according to grade and species.

✓Maintenance — Really none. Vacuum clean your paneling as you normally would any wall to remove surface dust. Clean off smudges with a good furniture wax.

Installation — Paneling is easy to install. And you can get Hardwood Trim in the right color for your particular paneling.

Leave Security Mills Alone, Chamber Urges

The executive committee of Newton Chamber of Commerce has voted to oppose a petition of a group living in the vicinity of Security Mills on Munroe street, Newtonville, that has asked the Aldermen to rezone the site of the factory so the plant could not be expanded.

In a report to the Aldermen, the committee pointed out that "The textile and spinning industry is presently in a tremendous state of flux and even the slightest interference with the firm's ability to adjust to changes could cause undue hardship and irreparable monetary damage, and the continued employment of its 342 workers might well be jeopardized."

Personnel Of School Staff Describe Duties For Board

Dr. Edward Landy, who heads the Newton schools' division of pupil personnel services, paraded members of his staff before the School Committee last Monday night, and each described his or her duties.

Clarence Truesdell, staff psychologist, declared that he and his fellow workers have the most interesting job in the school system. "We are called upon," he said, "to make decisions on whether a child with difficulties should be referred to staff members or to an outside agency like the city's mental health clinic."

"My job," Truesdell explained, "is to know when a situation is too difficult for us to handle. We hope in the future to be able to take more preventive measures, rather than wait until a child has difficulties."

Dr. Landy told the committee that the division deals with 1500 cases per year, and he cited national figures which indicate that 10 percent of all children are "in trouble."

Arthur Kroll, the staff's administrative assistant, spoke on the subject of vocational guidance, and predicted that because of rapid and constant changes, in 25 years 75 percent of high school graduates will be employed in occupations that do not now exist.

"There has been a renewed interest in guidance," Kroll went on, "and it is becoming more and more difficult in Newton to provide all the service to youngsters we would like to give."

He described the job of amassing literature concerning the multitude of professions and careers—publications like "Men Behind the Astronauts," "What Does a Peace Corps Worker Do?"

"Men in the Post Office," and pamphlets describing jobs in mechanical work, selling, clerical work, and so on.

Other staff members who spoke were Robert Mitchell, vocational counselor for the two high schools; Mrs. Beatrice Johnson, reading clinic-

Mrs. Henes To Head Newton Mothers March

The 1966 Mothers' March chairman from Newton will be Mrs. Angelina A. Henes, 58 Alexander Rd., according to an announcement today by Harry M. Cohen and Monte J. Basbas, 1966 March of Dimes co-chairmen for Newton.

"In joining the army of thousands of volunteers across this state and nation," Mr. Cohen and Mr. Basbas said in a joint statement, "Mrs. Henes will bring to the upcoming campaign the necessary knowledge and experience that is needed for a successful undertaking."

"Most of us remember the polio days," Mrs. Henes said, "when we were afraid to let our children out of doors for fear that they would be afflicted. Most of us are proud of the fact that we, as contributors and volunteers to the March of Dimes, had a part in the conquering of this terrible disease."

"Now the March of Dimes is engaged in an even greater struggle, the fight against birth defects that will kill or cripple almost 9000 innocents in Massachusetts alone this coming year," Mrs. Henes continued. "Some of the answers are being found at the birth defects special treatment center at Boston City Hospital, which is maintained in part by the contributions of the people of many cities such as Newton."

"There is much interest among artists and art collectors in the showing of 'The Agony and the Ecstasy,' a film which has received wide acclaim for its exquisite photography and sympathetic portrayal of the sculptor Michaelangelo. Among the Newtonites who are planning to attend are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dorson, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Myers, Mr. and Mrs. George Lunin, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Paisner, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cohen.

"There is a great deal more to be done, and hopefully with a successful Mothers' March in 1966, we will be one step closer to the elimination of this dread problem."

Sculpture For Church In Auburndale Is Dedicated

A piece of sculpture commissioned to be created for the entry area into the sanctuary of the Auburndale Congregational Church was recently dedicated with members and friends of the church attending.

It is a bronze bas-relief sculpture by Gerald Shertzer, a teacher at Phillips Andover Academy in the department of Art, and Northeastern University.

Mr. Shertzer is a graduate of Yale University; has had exhibitions at Bertha Schaefer Gallery, Nova Gallery, DeCordova Museum in Lincoln, the Institute of Contemporary Art, and Northeastern University.

His works are in the collections of the Addison Gallery, Yale University Gallery, and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. This project began over one year ago when a layman, Albert Terkelson, suggested it be put into the matter in motion.

The Art Committee of the church, Mrs. Richard Kenney, chairman, met with members of the congregation knowledgeable in the field of the Fine Arts and after a time Mr. Shertzer was commissioned to create a bronze sculpture. It was purchased for the church by its members through voluntary contributions.

The minister, the Reverend Eugene W. Meyer, in his sermon dedicating the sculpture said, "This piece of sculpture is symbolic of our 'gathered' community of faith. We are not called together in this place; we are gathered together by our own free will. There is no coercion or compulsion placed upon you to worship here. As one enters this church, this sculpture will meet the eye to remind us that we are leaving the world of the Profane and coming into the world of that which is holy and sacred. And we do so under the Lordship of Jesus Christ and the mantle of God's Word and Will."

"From henceforth no man can enter this house of God but that this sculpture symbolizes for him or her that this is indeed the house of God; and when we leave this place to re-enter the world of the profane, we take with us what is sacred and of the nature of Christian piety and thus the world is less profane and more sacred."

A coffee hour was held immediately after the service to enable the congregation to meet and talk with Mr. Shertzer who was present at the dedication. Protestant churches have in the past been reticent to commission artists to produce works of fine art for their buildings and sanctuaries, it was stated but in a new age it is expected that more and more churches will see that the difference between the aesthetic and religious experience is too slight to set apart from the life of the church the creative skilled artist.

Diabetes remains one of the most widespread diseases. Yet today, thanks to prescription drugs, the diabetic can enjoy a near-normal life. Insulin, an injectable compound, has restored his body's ability to burn its fuel. Very recently, also, pharmaceutical research has added other anti-diabetic drugs that certain patients can take by mouth.

There are many other examples of formerly dead diseases that are now being controlled by prescription drugs. Yet Americans today spend a greater share of their disposable income on drugs, than in 1939 (only about one cent from each dollar). No wonder we say: "Today's prescription is the biggest bargain in history."

Thus, the newly-elected member, Dr. Harold Berman, will be able to take his seat this month, instead of waiting until January.

Some people get their heat (directly or indirectly) from an electric power line and, if a pole goes down, so does the thermometer.

This problem faces everyone who owns a heating plant that does not generate its own electric power. It's the reason why so many home owners ask for the GORDON (self-generating) Gas Conversion Burner.

Over 50,000 people heat their homes with a Roberts-Gordon Burner. Why not join this happy group.

Central Club Of Church To Present Film

Another in a series of Frances and Arnold Black's travelogues, "Down Mexico Way," will be presented by Central Club of Central Congregational Church in Newtonville this Saturday, November 13 at 8 p.m.

Open to the public and with a nominal admission, the program presents hundreds of Mexican and Yucatan scenes in color, synchronized with a stereophonic tape recording combining narration, musical background and sound effects.

The technique has been used by the Blacks in their church programs for the past 10 days.

years, which include tours of the Swiss Alps, Hawaii, the Caribbean, and many countries of Europe and Scandinavia.

"Down Mexico Way" takes viewers from the Zocalo Cathedral and National Palace of Mexico City to the fabled bull ring and a 500-year-old sugar mill in Cuernavaca originally built by Mexican conqueror Hernando Cortez.

The meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Henry Zellman, 274 Otis street, West Newton, at 9:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Heckler is truly dedicated to humanitarian causes. In recent months she has helped handicapped persons find suitable work, and she has been given credit for saving Pondville Hospital.

Judge Refuses Injunction To Bar State Aid

Judge Horace T. Cahill of the Massachusetts Superior Court has denied a request for an injunction to bar payment of state aid to the Newton schools and others in 25 communities of the Commonwealth that make a charge incidental to their driver training courses.

A group of 58 taxpayers from throughout Massachusetts brought the suit, contending that the courses were authorized under the state education law and should be provided without charge.

In Newton there is a $31 charge for the six hours a student driver sits behind the wheel and the six hours he is an observer as a passenger. The classroom curriculum on driving, however, is not charged for.

Owen B. Kiernan, state commissioner of education, told the court there is a statute allowing school committees to set a reasonable rate of tuition for driver education.

Struggle At Peniel Is Lesson For Sunday

Jacob's struggle at Peniel and the conversion of Paul will be included in the Bible Lesson at Christian Science churches this Sunday to illustrate spiritual transformation.

A verse from Paul's message to the Romans will underscore the theme. "And be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Romans 12:2).

Related passages from the Christian Science textbook will include these lines: "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, — they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, — in order that sin and mortality may be put off" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 265).

The Lesson-Sermon is on the subject of "Mortals and Immortals."

Women Voters Group To Present Service Units

The League of Women Voters presents its November Service Units on "Apportionment" from Nov. 17 through Nov. 19. How much should your vote be worth? ... the same, half, twice as much as someone else's in the same state? The state legislatures across this country vary in their patterns and formulas for providing representation for their citizens. In many states the result is severe underrepresentation for some groups, particularly urban and suburban dwellers.

A stimulating, animate discussion as to whether or not the league should support a Constitutional amendment modifying the "one man, one vote" decision will be sought at the November units.

Unit meetings will be as follows: Wednesday, November 17, 9:45 a.m., home of Mrs. Arnold Kagan, 46 Brentwood Rd., Newton Centre, baby-sitter in attendance; Wednesday, November 17, 1:15 p.m., home of Mrs. Allan Mann, 26 Merrill Rd., Chestnut Hill; Wednesday, November 17, 8 p.m., home of Mrs. Norman Rosenberg, 131 Sargent St., Newton; Thursday, November 18, 9:45 a.m., Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus St., Newton.

Edward M. Freshman '66, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Freshman, 23 Charlotte Rd., Newton Centre, and Joseph A. Guzzi, a junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Guzzi Sr., 60 Stratford Rd., West Newton, have been selected for nomination in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges," based on their outstanding records at Lowell Technological Institute.

The two students who are spending a year in Newton are Tullia Todra from Italy, studying at Newton South High, and Peter Nsimbe from Uganda, studying at Newton High. The two Newton Students abroad are Anne McDaniel and Steve Kerzner.

The 78 foreign students, living and studying here in Mass., will be accompanied by their school advisers and their American parents. Throughout the day, they will be involved in workshops and discussion groups and a most pleasant social evening has been planned for both the foreign students and their American "brothers" and "sisters". The AFS students at both Newton High and Newton South have been busily involved in planning a most memorable weekend for their guests.

Tetanus Shots Urged For Young Football Players

A great many "pint-sized" youngsters are playing football this fall without any sort of medical supervision, and should have tetanus immunization, says the Charles River District Medical Society.

The great majority of the high school and college boys are protected against the deadliest tackler of them all — tetanus," says the Society's president, Dr. David Reid, but the uncouth little fellows who play the game in backyards and sandlots have no such protection, whether their game is football or any other outdoor type of play.

The doctor points out that there is danger of a cut or wound from a cleat or scrape acquired in a tackle becoming infected with tetanus, and that germs that cause it may be found anywhere in the soil. Once these germs enter the body, he says, they multiply rapidly, producing a deadly toxin which paralyzes the muscles and causes painful spasms or contractions. The neck muscles are especially affected, and for this reason the disease is often called lockjaw.

"Tetanus immunization should be started at two to three months of age at which time it is combined with diphtheria and whooping cough immunization, the so-called "baby shot", said Dr. Reid.

"This basic immunization consists of a series of three monthly injections followed by a booster a year later. After age six, whooping cough is not included in the basic immunization.

"This primary immunization does not protect the individual against these diseases forever," added Dr. Reid. "Boosters are needed regularly to reinforce this protection. Boosters are recommended every five years for children and every 10 years for adults."

Extra Week For Viet Yule Mail

Christmas packages mailed for ground transportation to U. S. military personnel in Viet Nam can be mailed by Nov. 17 instead of Nov. 10, as was previously announced as the closing date.

The extra week was made possible by a new law signed by President Johnson which provides for air-lifting such packages from the U.S. port of embarkation to Viet Nam.

The deadline for parcels to be sent both in the U. S. overseas by air mail is December 1 to December 10 to assure Christmas delivery.

Big Fete for Mayor Collins To Open Political Activity

The tempo of activity along the State's political front will begin to rise immediately after Thanksgiving.

Boston Mayor John F. Collins' campaign for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate will get a big boost when he is honored at a huge testimonial to be tendered him on the night of Nov. 28.

Collins will make no announcement of his candidacy and probably will make no direct reference to his political intentions since the dinner is being planned as a non-political affair.

But there will be little doubt in the minds of those attending the $100-a-plate dinner as to Collins' objective.

"Flying Fortress," written by Edward Jablonski and published recently by Doubleday, recounts World War II experiences of two Newton men, Stanley Russell and Harry H. Crosby.

Mr. Russell, who lives in Sudbury, is assistant superintendent of Newton Public Schools and Mr. Crosby, a Boston University professor and department chairman, lives at 48 Ruthven Road.

The book, whose subtitle is "The Illustrated Biography of the B-17's And The Men Who Flew Them," covers the aircraft's entire history from the drawing boards at Boeing to its conversion to the B-29 in the Pacific.

One Eighth Air Force group, the so-called "Bloody Hundredth," which Russell and Crosby were officers, lost so many planes and crews, won so many medals, and provided so many legends that Jablonski devotes two chapters to it.

The chapters begin with a picture and story about Russell, then a first lieutenant navigator, when he first learned about the private war which the Luftwaffe had declared on the Hundredth. "Nobody lives long enough in the 100th," he was told "to finish a tour."

Crosby, who eventually became a lieutenant colonel, Monday night Alderman Walen obtained removal of the item from the table, and the secret ballot vote that followed on confirmation was Yes 19, No 1.

Mayor-Elect Sets Programs In Gear

Mayor-elect Monte G. Basbas moved this week to launch his "Ten-Point Program for Progress in Newton" which was the keystone of his successful campaign for election as the city's next chief executive.

In his first post-election statement, Basbas announced the formation of a committee which will recommend a site for the proposed new Newton High School.

Charles Downe, the city's planning consultant for the past eight years, was named by Basbas as chairman of the Site Committee.

"I look at the problem of selecting a site for the new high school as basically a long-range planning problem," Basbas declared in explaining his choice of Downe to head the committee.

"In determining the site, we must take into account a myriad of problems and considerations," Basbas observed.

"For example," he said, "we must coordinate as effectively and efficiently as possible the efforts and goals of our citizens and municipal departments interested in library, recreation, conservation, traffic, parking and the construction and maintenance of public buildings with our need and desire to update our school buildings."

Basbas asserted that for these reasons he considered Downe the logical choice to serve as the committee's chairman.

City Planner James Miller was designated by Basbas as secretary of the committee because the city planning department should be the central source of all city planning and the depository of the principal planning records."

The Mayor-elect pointed out that Miller has worked with Downe for a number of years and for the past year and a half has worked full time for the city as the head of its planning department.

Others appointed to the Site Committee by Basbas are School Committee Chairman Hugh Tomb, Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools; Newton High School Principal Richard W. Mechem, Librarian A. William Kunkel, Public Buildings Commissioner Vincent D. Burns, Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney, Chairman Melvin J. Dangel of the Aldermanic Public Buildings Committee, Chairman William E. Hopkins of the Aldermanic Education Committee, Chairman Franklin N. Flaschner of the Aldermanic City Planning Committee, Alderman William M. Glovsky, Dr. James Mansfield, president of the Newton High School PTA; and Benjamin Shattuck, president of the Newton Conservators.

Mayor-elect Basbas disclosed that he is in the process of attempting to make arrangements to obtain advice and assistance from the Ford Foundation.

He emphasized that the committee "does not, of course, have any official standing, since I have not yet been inducted as Mayor."

"I am asking the committee to serve on an informal basis until Inauguration Day when I will be able to make the appointments official," Basbas declared.

"I did not want to lose any time unnecessarily, and I did want to give the committee as much time as possible to review all considerations carefully and thoroughly before the final reporting date of March 1," he explained.

Basbas outlined several other moves he plans to make in the near future and said he

Aldermen In $20,000 O.K. Of Purchase

A request by the City Treasurer for an appropriation of $20,000 to cover rental for one year of electronic data equipment for processing all Newton payrolls was approved by vote of the Board of Aldermen Monday night.

A possibility exists that the Aldermanic fight may be taken into Newton district court because of a dispute over contested ballots.

In reporting the Finance Committee's unanimous vote in favor of the proposal, Chairman John P. Nixon declared that not only would the equipment save the city $17,400 a year in salaries but also the depreciation and maintenance of its own old payroll machines, which require repairs.

Those facts were also pointed out by Mayor Donald L. Gibbs when he asked the Board to allow the expenditure.

Nixon repeated the Mayor's statement that the use of the new equipment would be on a test basis, as the contract with the supplier may be canceled after six months on a 30-day notice if the equipment should be found unsatisfactory.

Concert Artist Aids Cause

expects to announce the appointments to a Library Site Committee next week so the committee "may report to me before the March 1 deadline that I set in the campaign."

The Mayor-elect also revealed that he will shortly announce the members of the new Municipal Cabinet.

Referring to the High School Site Committee, Basbas said he had made known his willingness to request an appropriation for the services of a traffic engineer if the committee decides it needs such assistance.

"We certainly will need to make an evaluation of traffic and parking problems in Newton Centre in connection with the library site, and the same thing may well be true of the site for the new high school," Basbas observed.

He requested that the High School Site Committee hold its first meeting this week and Chairman Downe declared that arrangements were being made to comply with the request.

Mayor-elect Basbas said he intends to make additional appointments to the committee and that he will name Newton citizens "having a degree of expertise" in related fields but that he has not yet been able to discuss the appointments with all the people he has in mind.

He said that, therefore, he is delaying his announcement of these appointments.

Comments Graphic

Editor,
Newton Graphic

I congratulate you on your courageous article regarding the Board of Aldermen of Newton.

You seem to have the same courage of printing the news as the Boston Globe.

Now take a look on Braeland Ave. in Newton Centre, along the MTA tracks:

Forty Parking Meters recently installed with two-hour parking — which NOBODY wants and NOBODY uses — so the city gets absolutely no return on the fabulous investment of public funds — what a stupid error.

And, take a look in Newton Centre during the rush morning and evening periods. See the result of directing ALL traffic thru the Centre, after making Braeland Ave. a ONE WAY, and other methods of pushing all traffic through the Centre.

Some things not only seem wrong — but are wrong — but City Officials have their way over the citizens, and complaining does no good. You might as well talk to a brick wall.

Is good old Newton going the way of a lot of other places — to the dogs?

Centre Women Tolding Unique Antique Show

The sixth annual Antiques show of the Newton Centre Woman's Club which opened Tuesday, Nov. 16, at 1280 Centre St., will continue through tomorrow (Friday), Nov. 19. The hours are 1 to 10 p.m.

Manager of the show is J. Gresham Wilson, who directs 16 other similar shows along the eastern seaboard. While this show is relatively small, he has handpicked the dealers for the diversity of their stock.

Early furniture in cherry, maple, walnut, mahogany, and pine will be found in many of the booths. Tables, desks, chests, lowboys, candle stands, and sets of matching chairs are going to be exhibited. Other booths will feature early flint and pattern glass, pewter, copper, brass, silver, dolls, china, bric-a-brac, jewelry, paper weights, and sundry other things from past generations.

The sole item which will not be for sale is a hand-carved, life size figure of a goat done in Germany about 150 years ago. It was once part of a carousel in Reading, Penn., and is used as a mascot at the entrance of all of Mr. Wilson's shows.

Some of the sweets to be sold are the famous Baklava, Oriental Kataifi, triangle Trigone, honey sweets Finikia, butter shortbread with confectionery sugar Kourambiedes, coffee cookies Koulouri, almond cake Egato, and fruit balls.

The sweets can be frozen for future use, if desired. All proceeds of the sale are for the benefit of the Home for the Elderly project.

Magic Carpet Players Plan Show Locally

Talking puppets, Geppetto, The Blue Fairy . . . all the beloved characters of the well-known children's classic, will come to life as the Cedar Hill Chapter of Women's American ORT presents The Magic Carpet Players in "Pinocchio," 2 p.m. Sunday, December 5, at the Meadowbrook Junior High School, Newton Centre.

After the performance, there'll be more excitement as members of the cast pass out candy and invite audience members to perform on the stage!

Director for the production is Harvey Brock, who has also written the music and lyrics for the show. The goal of the Magic Carpet Players is "to bring quality musical productions of classic children's stories to children who probably have never seen live actors in a live play before."

Tickets may be reserved by calling Mrs. H. Shurdut, LA 7-4476 or Mrs. S. Fish, 444-7817.

Thayer McNeil

CHESTNUT HILL — 200 Boylston St.
Route 9 (Next to Stop & Shop)
Open Wed. & Fri. 'til 9 P.M.

The understated elegance of this perfect pump is forever provoking comments. Comments of the most flattering nature, we might add. That's why Thayer McNeil is so proud to offer you this Mr. Vincent Classic Pump in sixteen different combinations of color, leather and heel height. Why not go hog wild and buy all sixteen? Considering the outrageous reduction in price, it can hardly be considered mere caprice. Alas, time and special wait for no woman! So, be quick!

The previous retail store and warehouse annex for retail sales will be continued at the same location at 342 Atlantic Avenue, Rowe's Wharf, Boston, almost the exact spot where this famous company began its existence early in the 19th century.

Allen D. Willard of Wellesley, president of James Bliss & Company, anticipates that new and ones will find this western, suburban Boston location very convenient because of its situation on the great circumferential superhighway, 128.

Political Highlights

In fact, Collins already has made considerable headway in his efforts to line up support at next year's Democratic State Convention.

Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, an announced candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, will be at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner early next month.

Also planning dinners to give impetus to their campaigns are former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., ex-Governor Endicott Peabody and Kenneth O'Donnell, aide to the late President John F. Kennedy.

The political pundits will be watching closely the dinners held for Donahue and McCormack, who appear to be battling head to head in their struggle for the right to run next year as the Democratic nominee for Governor.

Senator Edward M. Kennedy will be the principal speaker at Donahue's dinner. Donahue was Ted Kennedy's floor manager in his 1962 convention fight with McCormack. But Ted also is planning to appear and speak at McCormack's dinner.

Peabody has generated some litical comeback if he sets his confusion and uncertainty as to what office he will seek. Persons close to McCormack believe he may run for Governor. They have referred to him as a possible "spoiler" in the gubernatorial race.

While Peabody is somewhat unpredictable, it was generally assumed that the purpose of his trip to Europe was to store up some background for a run for the U. S. Senate.

There is little doubt that Peabody will be facing heavy handicaps in attempting a po-and don't regard O'Donnell as a serious threat.

While O'Donnell has been described in newspaper articles as a close friend of Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York State, it is highly improbable that Bobby will mix into either a Democratic convention or primary clash in Massachusetts.

Even if he did, his chances of putting O'Donnell over would be extremely remote. Some observers believe there is a possibility O'Donnell might wind up as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

There will be a respite in the political activity during the Christmas holidays, but immediately after the start of the New Year the major contenders will begin pulling out the stops even though some of them will not have formally announced their candidacies.

Somewhere along the line, Senator Leverett Saltonstall will issue a formal statement on whether he will or will not be a candidate for reelection next year. That may well be the most important political news of the winter.

Because of Saltonstall's own delay in announcing what he will do, the impression is gaining strength that he intends to retire from office at the close of his present term.

As the political analysts reason it out, Saltonstall would make a forthright announcement of his intentions if he planned to run again next year.

By holding back his statement, Saltonstall is weakening his chances of winning another term if he did decide to try for one, in the opinion of the experts.

Whether he intends to do so or not, they point out, Saltonstall is building the impression that he is still weighing the reasons for and against running and has not yet reached a final decision on what he will do.

This obviously is not what a candidate, who has made up his mind to stand for reelection, would do, and while Congress was still in session, Saltonstall said he had reached his decision but would not make it known until after Congress had adjourned. The members of Congress left Capitol Hill some weeks ago.

Saltonstall is playing into the hands of the Democrat who will oppose him next year — probably Mayor Collins — if he intends to seek a new term but is refraining from saying so. The obvious conclusion many people are sure to draw is that there were some reasons he felt he should not run and that this caused the delay in making up his mind.

Some Beacon Hill politicians are convinced that Saltonstall not only intends to retire from office next year but that he may retire from the Senate early in 1966, despite denials to the contrary.

Should that happen, it would clear the way for Governor Volpe to become the U. S. Senator, for Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson to step up into the Governorship and for both to run for the offices they were holding, Volpe for Senator and Richardson for Governor.

This, of course, is strictly in the field of conjecture and speculation, but it is not beyond the realm of possibility.

However, Saltonstall talks and acts as if he were already campaigning for reelection to the Senate.

Saltonstall actually has become something of a political enigma.

If he's planning to retire from office, it's difficult to understand why he's spending so much time and energy making public appearances.

If he intends to stand for reelection, it's even more difficult to understand why he doesn't say so and end the uncertainty.

An interesting situation would develop if Governor Volpe and Mayor Collins should wind up as opponents in a fight for a U. S. Senate seat.

Volpe and Collins have been allies in the drive for limited sales tax and have worked shoulder to shoulder in the long battle to provide a new source of revenue for the cities and towns.

While there is no political understanding whatever between them, Collins told Volpe early in the year that if he should decide to run for Governor, the first one he would notify of his decision would be Volpe.

At that time, of course, both Collins and Volpe assumed that Volpe would be a candidate for reelection to another term in the Governorship next autumn. That's not the certainty today that it appeared to be eight months ago.

Don't be surprised if Volpe puts in an appearance at testimonial or fund-raising dinners for some of the top Democrats who conceivably might be running against him next year.

Gov. Volpe Steals Show At Democratic Dinner

While Governor Volpe and Senate President Donahue have been the main adversaries in the long sales tax battle, a mutual respect obviously still exists between the two, and Volpe has not lost his sense of humor.

Volpe, who harvests a little political hay by turning up at Democratic dinners, not only showed up at the testimonial for Larry O'Brien in Springfield but came close to stealing the show when he told his listeners that Donahue was awaiting an appointment as federal tax commissioner.

Governor Volpe will be Councillor Heckler's guest star on Thanksgiving morning. The Governor will discuss, among other things, his own Thanksgiving Day. (Political

He hasn't been missing many vote-getting opportunities.

Councillor Heckler In Guest Radio Role

Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler will perform a stint as a radio hostess and commentator on station WNAC next week. She will substitute for Mary Sparks.

From 9:15 to 10 each morning she will be the guest hostess on an interview show, and from 1:15 to 2 in the afternoon she will be the commentator at a mail show, discussing and commenting on questions sent in by listeners.

Governor Volpe will be Councillor Heckler's guest star on Thanksgiving morning. The Governor will discuss, among other things, his own Thanksgiving Day. (Political observers are speculating on whether he will have a sales tax to be thankful for.)

Controversial State Administration Commissioner John J. McCarthy will be on the show with Mrs. Heckler Monday morning, and MDC Chairman

Howard Whitmore, Jr., will be one of her guests Tuesday morning.

Councillor Heckler has lined up quite an array of political talent for her first fling as a radio commentator and hostess,

The most important thing we move is you.

One of the most moving experiences you'll ever have is moving.

There's always some sadness about leaving the old home. And uncertainty about the new one.

We can't promise to turn your move into a bundle of laughs. But we can promise to do everything in our power to make it easier for you.

When a Bekins moving man comes to your door, you'll notice that he has on clean, white coveralls. These coveralls won't make him one bit better as a mover (he's already the best there is). But on a day when your emotions are running high, think how upsetting it would be to have a mover show up in sloppy, dirty clothes.

You'll find that our Bekins people are nice and understanding by nature. This is no accident. We pick them that way. In fact, we wouldn't have them any other way.

Other companies think we're sort of old-fashioned in this respect. They're probably right. But we intend to go right on making nice ness a prerequisite for anyone who wants to work for us.

So when moving day comes around, we hope you'll remember us.

We're the movers who take a load off your mind.

Newton High And South High Lose On Saturday

Newton South High School's football team was knocked out of the unbeaten ranks and its hopes for a Class B championship probably shattered when it was defeated 14-6 by a strong Revere High team at Paul Revere Stadium in Revere on Monday.

The Lions made a strong bid for their eighth straight victory of the season and actually outplayed Revere, but a pair of fumbles, which set the stage for two Revere touchdowns, led to their downfall.

Newton High's Tigers almost pulled the upset of the football season at rain-soaked Dickinson Stadium last Saturday but finally bowed 6-0 to unbeaten and untied Wal-tham's lone touchdown came on an unusual play. Waltham's Kevin Murphy fired a forward pass intended for Joe Cacciato in the Newton end zone. Cacciato and Newton's Tom Warren caught the football simultaneously. Under the rules the offensive player is given possession of the football.

That meant a touchdown for Waltham and a heart-breaking defeat for the fired-up Lions of Newton High.

Even in defeat Coach Jim Ronayne's charges gained new respect and praise for the fight they put up.

As Ronayne put it, "they proved to themselves that they can play football without being thrashed around."

The game lifted Newton High's hopes for the Thanksgiving Day meeting with Brookline High.

Tom Warren was outstanding for Newton. Fullback Paul Burlingame was the big offensive threat for the Tigers as he carried 14 times for a total of 46 yards.

The Newton line did an excellent job.

In addition to Warren and Burlingame, players who earned special praise for their performance included Bill Jonah, Franco DeStephano, Tom Bowen, Joe Fiumara, Eliot Neirman, Dick Yukes, Dave Foley, Steve Colantuono, Dick Jefferson and Don Boudreau.

Newton South won just about everything except the football game in the clash with Revere.

The Lions chalked up 12 first downs to Revere's five and gained 143 yards rushing to 50 for Revere.

But when the contest ended, the scoreboard showed 14 points for Revere and 6 for Newton South, and South's hopes for an unbeaten season and a Class B championship were ended.

Reading and Malden Catholic in the Class B rating each has eight victories and no defeats. If they win their final game, they will be rated ahead of South in the Class B standing even though Revere was a Class A team.

The Lions are now hoping they can win their final game with Hingham and that Reading and Malden Catholic both lose.

Revere went into an eight-point lead, completing a 56-yard touchdown play after South quarterback Steve Parnell was blitzed and forced to fumble. The score was 8-0 at half-time.

The Lions came back strong in the third period. Captain John Passarini raced the kickoff back 21 yards to his own 47-yard line. South then launched a 53-yard drive, with Mike Nathanson eating up 38 yards on four plays. Parnell sped around end for the touchdown but was dropped at the five-yard line when he tried to rush for a two-point conversion.

A hard Revere tackle caused another South fumble in the final period, and Revere capitalized on the opportunity by taking to the air lanes and tallying its second TD.

South launched a last-ditch drive, with Nathanson traveling 39 yards in six carries, but time ran out. Nathanson gained 85 yards on 17 rushes during the game, and Passarini picked up 71 yards on 14 carries.

Mt. Ida Hosts Elementary School Leaders

A meeting of elementary school teachers and administrators was held at Mount Ida Junior College in Newton Centre on Thursday, Nov. 11, for the purpose of hearing Professor Lawrence Senesh of Science Research Associates' new Social Studies Program.

Newton Artist Wins Acclaim

Works of Henry Bahm, 131 Wallace St., Newton Highlands, have been shown extensively at major art museums throughout the country, and his drawings have become collectors' items. A number of his drawings were shown recently by the Witherspoon Art Gallery of the University of North Carolina in Greensboro, he won first prize for a drawing at the Berwick Arts Center, Berwick, Penn., and a pur-onel, figures in the history when a decision he made saved the city of Bonn, now the capitol of West Germany. As Jablonski phrases it, Crosby was "responsible for one of the strangest decisions ever made during the Second World War."

A task force of over 2,000 Fortresses was briefed to bomb the Ruhr, with Crosby as the lead navigator. When the target was obscured, the lead bombardier began a run on the closest available target of opportunity, the town of Bonn.

By coincidence, Crosby had spent the previous evening listening to some Beethoven records. As he idly glanced at the album covers, he read about Beethoven's youth in Bonn. Now, 25,000 feet above the city, he knew the town had no military significance.

He called on interphone, "Don't bomb Bonn! That's where Beethoven went to school!" With bomb bays open, the formation floated over Bonn, but no bombs fell.

The formation went on to obliterate railroad yard and an oil refinery in another city. Bonn was never again listed as a target of opportunity. As a result, when West Germany needed a capitol immediately after the war, Bonn was the only city available.

The chapter describes the pounding the 100th took from the German Air Force all during the war and includes a description of a mission in which Crosby's plane, after leading a mission to Bremen, lost two engines to flak and came home alone. The crew shot down a record number of German fighters and crash landed in England with most of the crew injured. The trip is one cited often to illustrate the endurance of the B-17.

Three other Boston area men are noted in the history. Marvin Bowman, Horace Varian and Richard Payne. Bowman, of Nahant, is an advertising executive. Varian is manager of a real estate development firm in Marlboro, and Payne, who lives in Franklin, teaches at Dean Junior College.

A portrait study by the artist is now on view in the George Walter Vincent Smith Art Museum in Springfield.

Usique Carol Program By Missionaries

In anticipation of the joyous Christmas season, Friendship Guild of Second Church in Newton, West Newton, will present a program of carols and Yuletide customs of other lands on Wednesday, Dec. 1.

South African, Syrian and Indian Christmas carols and customs will be demonstrated and sung by Mrs. Grace Rubenstein, Mrs. Alice Shepard and Mrs. Margit Cook, all missionaries on leave from their missions.

Following this most interesting program, Sid Wavro will lead the group in some of America's favorite carols.

Dinner, catered by Ruth Leonard, will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the parish house. Reservations must be made by Saturday, Nov. 27. The church telephone is 244-2690.

Dorm -

Information as to whether the living quarters sought would be considered apartments or a dormitory.

The city solicitor, after reviewing the matter, had ruled that they were dormitories under the law, and cited a case involving Yale and the city of New Haven, Conn.

The restrictions proposed by Claims and Rules included one providing that no more than one dormitory unit would be occupied by members of the faculty, one that only 16 student occupants would be allowed, instead of the 19 requested, and one that there would be no dormitory rooms on the third floor.

Members of the Claims and Rules committee who had dissented on the committee's 6-2 vote of approval were Flaschner and Ernest F. Dietz.

Those voting against holding up the item Monday night were Aldermen Adelaide B. Ball and Melvin J. Dangel. There were three absents, William Carmen, John P. McCarthy and Edward C. Uehlein.

Those voting in favor of the Flaschner motion to hold the item were Winslow C. Auryansen, William L. Bruce, Paul J. Burke, Ernest F. Dietz, Franklin N. Flaschner, William M. Glovsky, Harry H. Ham Jr., George L. Hicks, William E. Hopkins, Charles F. Hovey, David W. Jackson, Andrew J. Magni, Theodore D. Mann, John P. Nixon, Jack M. Roberts, Warren A. Sutherland, Harry L. Walen and Wendell R. Bauckman.

The lecture begins at 3 p.m. in St. John's Methodist Church, 80 Mt. Auburn Street, Watertown. It's being sponsored by The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, in cooperation with branch churches of this area.

Title of the lecture is "The Way of Abundant Life."

Rep. Mann Urges Vets To Keep Youth Informed

Theodore D. Mann, state representative and member of the Newton Board of Aldermen, was the principal speaker on Veterans Day at ceremonies in the city's War Memorial at City Hall.

"Veterans, who have firsthand knowledge of the meaning of fighting for freedom, and who appreciate the importance of keeping the peace, should keep the young people of America informed," he declared.

"These young people should be told the meaning of the binding white hoods of the Ku Klux Klan," he said, "the belligerent undermining demonstrations by those whose minds haven't been strengthened and made knowledgeable of our country's meaning, and the poison of the American Nazi Party, spitting out venom and hate."

"If we teach our young people to listen and understand, and understand they must, then as they grow older they will soon learn to hear the heartbeat of America," Mann concluded.

Proposal Made To Shift School Staff Quarters

The School committee will discuss the possible removal of the system's administrative staff from its present headquarters on Walnut St., opposite Newton High School, to the old Stearns School, 27 Jasett St., Newton, at its next regular meeting, Monday, Nov. 22.

Dr. Charles E. Brown, school superintendent, has proposed that his office and those of his staff members be turned over to Newton Junior College, whose quarters in the comparatively new addition to the school administration building are cramped and badly overcrowded.

Dr. Brown brought the subject up at the recent meeting of the School Board. He declared that the junior college has 878 students in all, with an increase in enrollment expected next year.

He said that in his opinion, the Stearns School, which will be available as soon as the addition to the Lincoln-Eliot School is completed, would provide adequate space for his administrative staff, and that ample parking space would be provided, whereas the present space is not adequate.

land; golden-eye hen carved by Coombs about 1900 and used in the Alexandria Bay section of New York; and a red-headed drake by Chadwick of Oak Bluffs. All have been loaned by Robert S. Clifford, well known painter and shore bird carver.

Fall flower arrangements by the Auburndale Garden Club will fill the rooms. Among members assisting Mrs. Irving B. Kelley, chairman, are Mrs. E. Graham Bates, Mrs. William E. Bidde, Jr., Mrs. Harold A. Carns, Mrs. Clayton L. Henderson, Mrs. Franklin K. Hoyt, Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron and Mrs. Flint Taylor.

Hostesses in the various rooms include the following members of the Auburndale Woman's Club: Mrs. LeRoy A. Faulkner, president, Miss Anne E. Bunker, Mrs. John Curtis, Mrs. Townsend H. Cushman, Mrs. Albert E. Holdridge, Miss Cora MacKenzie, Mrs. John G. Norton, Mrs. William M. Rauha and Mrs. Orazio E. Vaccaro. Mrs. Earle D. Wood, president of the Friends, assisted by two Girl Scouts in costume, will also greet the visitors. Everyone is cordially invited to join the festivities.

Children Reflect Society Is Theme Of Rabbi's Talk

Rabbi Jerome K. Davidson, director of the New England Region, Union of American Hebrew Congregations, was the principal speaker at a recent meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Shalom of Newton. The theme of his remarks was that "Children are the reflection of the society in which they live."

Among the many contributing causes of confusion in our youth, Rabbi Davidson cited the results of the recent Boston School Committee election.

He pointed out that this retained the status quo, excluding from re-election the one man who spoke for civil liberties.

Rabbi Davidson also pointed out the acceptance by society at large of the "Playboy" philosophy of sex, and the difficulty in seeking identity in a world which feels that the individual doesn't count too much any more.

These new standards of morality, i.e. "What is moral is what you feel good after" are, Rabbi Davidson feels, reflected in our children, creating within them rebellion, confusion, and moral chaos.

A question and answer period followed the discussion.

Community Council News Notes Highly Informative

Messiah Church 2-Day Antiques Show Coming

Offices to Newton Community Council and Community Chest will move next month from 1990 Washington St., Newton Lower Falls, on the grounds of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, to 930 Watertown St., West Newton.

The Council and Chest, for approximately seven "happy" years were tenants of the hospital but, it is explained, the move is made necessary by the hospital's expansion plans.

Several instances of staff changes have been noted by the Community Council. Miss Lucille Naas is the new executive director of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association, replacing Mrs. Elizabeth Lee. James F. Sullivan is the new manager of the Massachusetts Employment Service, Newton office, succeeding William Giblin. The new executive director of Rebecca Pomroy House, who has replaced Helen Sandstrom, is Edith Babkey. Dr. Hale H. Cook will assume the duties of Commissioner of the Public Health Department, succeeding Dr. Henry Greenleaf.

In its recently issued news notes, the Community Council calls attention to an interesting folder of "Helpful Suggestions for Program Planners" from the Newton Free Library. It covers the subject in a thorough manner from how to obtain a speaker to supplying the speaker with information about the organization he is asked to address and establishing the definite time of his appearance and directions for getting there. Also, the organization is advised not to keep the speaker waiting after he arrives, and to suspend the business session if it is likely to interfere with the prompt delivery of the talk.

This Week's Best Buys

Courtesy of Massachusetts Department of Agriculture
Apples — McIntosh, Baldwins, Cortlands, Red and Golden Delicious from cold storage plentiful, of excellent quality, reasonable.

Cabbage — Abundance of green cabbage at economical prices.

Carrots — Good supply, quality uniformly good; prices low.

Cauliflower — Supply adequate this week, will decrease; reasonable.

Cranberries — Plentiful and reasonably priced. Excellent keeping quality makes them a good stock-up buy.

Flowers and Plants — Shrubs, evergreens, etc. bargain-priced, good planting until deep frost. Chrysanthemums abundant for holidays.

Lettuce, Greenhouse — Supply adequate for demand; reasonably priced.

Parsnips — Very abundant; quality excellent; prices economical.

Squash — Acorn, Blue Hubbard, Buttercup, Butternut, all in good supply and attractively priced.

Turnips — Purple tops plentiful and low-priced; more acceptable to youngsters' plates when mashed with carrots.

Today's Agri-Fact: The Bay State's fall crop of greenhouse tomatoes gets in increasingly short supply as December nears. This is because the vines bear less and less as daylight hours decrease. Despite their comparative scarcity, they are very desirable to those who prefer their all-meat, no-waste, juicy sweet characteristics.

Facts About Medicare We Should Know

Q. I remarried and my present husband is not getting social security benefits. Can I draw on my first husband's record? We were married over 20 years and he should be getting retirement benefits.

A. No. You must be unmarried to qualify as a divorced wife.

Q. Is it true that I can now earn $1500 without having any of my social security benefits withheld?

A. No. This part of the law starts in 1966. The $1200 limitation continues to apply for 1965.

Q. What will my social security contribution rate be for 1966?

A. If you are an employee, you will pay 4.2 percent of your wages in 1966, and if you are self-employed, it will be 6.15 percent. Also, your wages and self-employment earnings up to $6600 will count for social security in 1966.

Q. A man was 65 in 1954. He could not receive social security benefits as he didn't have enough work credit. Can his widow qualify under the new law?

A. Yes, provided the deceased had credit for at least 9 months of work and the widow is 72.

Q. I receive social security benefits for myself and my child. If I sell my home and get a down payment plus monthly payments, will this affect our social security checks?

A. No. In determining whether you meet the retirement test, only income earned in employment or self-employment is counted.

Q. My wife is 63. I am 62, working full-time, and earning too much to receive benefits. Is there any way my wife can qualify for monthly benefits?

A. Not unless she has worked under social security and can qualify on her own record.

Q. My husband worked for the railroad and I receive a monthly check from the Railroad Retirement Board as his widow. He also worked under social security. Am I eligible to get social security checks, too?

A. No. At a worker's death, his railroad and social security earnings are combined and only one of these agencies will pay survivor benefits. As you qualified for a widow's annuity from the Railroad Retirement Board, your husband's social security credits were transferred to them.

Q. My husband and I have been separated for several years but never divorced. Can I get benefits as his wife?

A. Yes, provided he gets social security benefits and you are 62 or over. You don't have to live with your husband or receive contributions to get payments as a legal wife.

72-Year-Olds Are Eligible For Benefits

John Bynoe, social security district manager in Norwood, announced today that his office is making an extensive effort to reach those persons 72 or over who have some credit for work under social security, but who do not receive social security benefits.

The Social Security Amendments of 1965 reduced the amount of work credit some persons 72 or over need to qualify for monthly benefits.

Mr. Bynoe added, "He said that many persons in this area have not been able to qualify for benefits in the past because they did not have credit for enough work under social security."

Now, many of these people, or their widows, can receive a special benefit of $35 a month if they have credit for less work than before.

These people should get in touch with the Norwood social security district office to find out if they can receive this special benefit. Wives of these workers can receive a special benefit of $17.50 a month when they are 72.

Another good reason these people should visit the district office, Mr. Bynoe continued, is because of "medicare." Anyone 65 or over, who does not receive social security or railroad retirement benefits, needs to establish their eligibility for hospital insurance benefits. At the same time, they can sign up for medical insurance benefits, the voluntary part of the program. People who are 65 or over before January 1, 1966, need to sign up for medical insurance before March 31, 1966, so that they can have this protection when the program starts July 1, 1966.

Aldermen's Fast Start At Monday Meeting Bogs Down

Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen in City Hall got off to a fast start, but soon after bogged down to the point where the docket was untouched until the proceedings had occupied two hours.

On the agenda first was a joint convention of the School Committee and the Board, called by Mayor Donald L. Gibbs to fill the vacancy in Ward 6 caused by the resignation of former Chairman Haskell C. Freedman.

By unanimous vote of the two groups, Dr. Harold J. Berman, who won the Freedman spot as Ward 6 committee in the Nov. 3 election, will sit as a member for the balance of this year.

Dr. Berman was not present. It was announced that he was prevented from coming to City Hall by back trouble.

That having been accomplished, there was a similar vote by the Aldermen to fill for the rest of this year the vacancy created by John F. Holden's resignation as Ward 1 Alderman-at-large. Atty. Joseph M. McDonnell, who was elected as Holden's replacement Nov. 2, also received the Board's unanimous vote, and he will attend Aldermanic meetings for the balance of this year.

McDonnell, too, was absent. He sent word that he would remain away so as not to embarrass the membership should it vote not to seat him.

Three public hearings which followed were held with little or no incident, but a fourth resulted in a long delay in getting around to the docket items.

The first hearing was a routine affair in which the Edison Company sought a pole location on Frances St. near Margaret Rd., Newton Highlands.

There was no opposition to a street hearing on acceptance of Byron Rd., Chestnut Hill.

Opposition failed to develop to a petition by Raymond O. Swanson Realty Trust for a new license to store inflammables at the rear of 87 Rumford Ave., West Newton. The petitioner stated that a contract for installation of a sprinkler system at the property had been made in anticipation of the granting of the license.

The time-consuming hearing was held jointly by the Planning Board and the Aldermen on petitions by Robert E. Hughes of Needham for replacement of the gasoline station at 199 Commonwealth Ave., Chestnut Hill, which was destroyed by fire, and for an increase of underground storage of inflammables.

Opposition came from Martin E. Greenblatt of 28 Manet Rd., in behalf of himself and his mother, Mrs. Nellie Greenblatt of the same address, and from Charles Norton, in behalf of 30 tenants of an apartment building at 219 Commonwealth Ave.

Greenblatt cited the record of previous persons who had leased the gasoline station and garage at the site and who, he claimed, resorted to various types of business in an effort to make a profit. One such lessor, he said, was a racing car driver who turned the establishment into a sort of club for race drivers, the exhaust of whose cars disturbed the area's residents.

Norton contended that granting of the petition would give the neighborhood an establishment "inherently dangerous to a residential district." Norton said he had a petition signed by 53 property owners opposing the application.

Most of the time of the hearing was used by Atty. John F. Dunn of Boston, representing the petitioner, who read a lengthy brief, and by a great amount of questioning addressed to him by various members of the Board.

Still another objector was Paul A. DiNapoli of Marblehead, who represented his mother, owner of property at 84, 86 and 38 Manet Rd.

When President Bauckman

An appropriation of $5000 was requested by Mayor Donald L. Gibbs for preparation of the 1964 annual report from municipal departments for city-wide distribution was denied. Chairman John P. Nixon of the Finance Committee declared that the committee's vote was 6-0 for denial on the ground that this was not a good time for distribution of the report, what with the Gibbs tenure about to end and that of Basbas to begin on Jan. 1.

Three settlements of damage cases were approved. One was for $1825.20 to cover medical expense of former police officer Augustus E. White, who was injured Nov. 6, 1959, when, while pulling a box, his squad car slipped into gear and injured him.

Another was a request by the city solicitor for $350 in settlement of a claim for damages by Sadie Clifford, who was injured by fall on Commonwealth Ave. Her original claim was for $750.

The third was requested by the city solicitor for $1474.13 to indemnify Joseph V. Quaranta who was injured while operating a city-owned vehicle.

Approved were two public works requests, one for $31,000 for the snow and ice removal account, and one for $5000 for street department garage and repair shop expenses.

A request by the city solicitor for an appropriation to the law department of $1869.59 as an additional award to John and Rose M. Yerardi for land taken by eminent domain was approved. This was the first settlement on Burr School landtaking.

There are about 25,000 known species of spiders.

Infantilings

A daughter was born Nov. 1 to Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Krassin, 42 Selwyn road, Newton Highlands, at Boston Lying-In Hospital. The maternal grandmother is Mrs.

Week-end Burglars Hit Several Homes

Two mink stoles, a Persian lamb coat, a tuxedo, a television set, a record-player, a slide projector and a steel diamond wrist watch, a camera and $300 in cash were included in the loot carried out of Newton homes by burglars in breaks last weekend.

It was the first series of big housebreaks in Newton since the roundup by police of an alleged New-Waltham burglar ring.

Taken from the home of Wesley Restall at 14 Fountain St., West Newton, were a television set, a record player, two transistor radios, a diamond wrist watch, a camera and $300 in cash were included in the loot carried out of Newton homes by burglars in breaks last weekend.

Police said the robbers gained entry to the dwelling by jimmying open the front door.

Thieves ransacked the home of Jack C. Katz at 40 Brookline St., Oak Hill, and carried away a mink stole, a tuxedo, a diamond wrist watch, a camera and $300 in cash.

While they were looting the home, they apparently pulled down the shades in three bedrooms, according to police.

They entered the house by jimmying the rear storm door and inner doors leading to the dining room.

Burglars carried a Persian lamb coat and a mink stole, each worth $1000, out of the home of Mrs. Mary LaRose at 15 Dhwinda Rd., Waban.

Entrance to the dwelling was gained by jimmying a rear door leading to the living room. Several thefts from automobiles were reported to the police.

A front and rear wheel were taken from a 1965 sedan while it was parked in the lot of the Silver Lake Motors at 444 Watertown St., Newton, and an air filter.

Ted Kennedy's Magic Touch Shows Up As He Tours State

You don't have to follow Senator Edward M. Kennedy far on the hustings to recognize that here is a young man with the magic political touch who is headed for greatness.

The realization hits with a strong impact as you watch and listen while Ted Kennedy addresses an assembly of high school students, an audience of business executives, a gathering of blue collar workers.

It strikes with force as you talk with him and as you see how he projects on television as he answers in forthright fashion difficult and intricate questions.

Basbas Names Four To Site Committee

Four additional appointments to the Newton High School Site Committee have been made by Mayor-Elect Monte G. Basbas, bringing the total number of members to eighteen.

Basbas announced the names of the following to the committee, headed by Charles E. Downe, Newton Planning Consultant:

Pay Raises Sought For School Help

Salary increases which would cost close to $400,000 a year were requested for Newton school teachers, school custodians and school secretarial workers by spokesmen for those three groups who appeared before the School Committee members at their meeting Monday night.

With the exception of School Committeeman Francis P. Frazier, the School Board members listened quietly to the arguments advanced in favor of the raises being sought, occasionally asked questions but gave no indication of their reaction to the proposal being made to them.

Frazier complimented the representatives of the teachers for having made a "wonderful presentation. But it costs money," he observed. "Where is it coming from?"

"Since 1960," Frazier declared, "the school budget has increased about $1 million annually. How much longer can the citizens of Newton stand for these increases? Your requests will bring increase in the school budget next year to $992,383."

Thanksgiving Here Is Family Holiday

The ink on the proclamation signed by Abraham Lincoln in 1863 establishing Thanksgiving as a national holiday was hardly dry before some busy-body scholars claimed the holiday was only a throw-back to the practices of people of ancient times.

The President just laughed that one off. Even if the ancients had their Thanksgiving Days, he reasoned, there was nothing wrong with the idea at all.

He heartily agreed with a nice lady editor named Sarah Hale who thought Governor Bradford had a good idea when he issued a similar proclamation down in the Plymouth Colony back in 1621. That was a good year for the colonists.

Whatever the ancients had done about expressing their gratitude to a Beneficent Creator was no concern of Abe Riding the wave of general response to the Massachusetts Bay United Fund campaign across the Commonwealth, the effort in Newton has reached about 70 per cent of the goal.

William A. Lincoln, Newton community chairman, announced today that he and the leaders of the drive here are confident that, with the help of all those who have dedicated their time to this cause, that the Newton goal will be reached by Tuesday, November 30.

Citizens of Newton who may not have been solicited to date are urged to send their donations to the United Fund office, 12 Page Rd., Newtonville.

Newton campaign leaders attended the big Victory Dinner held recently at the Sheraton-Hilton Hotel.

John Taplin, Follow-Up chairman in Newton, and Mrs. John C. Campbell, administrative chairman for Newton, presented a "Thank You" gift of appreciation to adorable little Sarah Chapman, poster girl for the Massachusetts Bay United Fund.

General Chairman William H. Clafflin, III United Fund general chairman, thanked everyone who contributed on behalf of the 600,000 men, women and children who will be helped during 1966 by 332 United Fund services in 62 communities.

Services For Thanksgiving Will Be Held

The traditional Thanksgiving Day service of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, 391 Walnut street, Newtonville, will take place at 10:45 a.m. Thursday morning. Friends, neighbors, and the public are especially invited. This annual service is distinctive for its concluding testimony period when any Christian Scientist in the congregation may rise to his feet and openly express his individual thanks to God for blessings received.

A hymn and reading of the President's national Thanksgiving Day proclamation will open the service, followed by Scriptural selections, prayer, and a Lesson-Sermon on "Thanksgiving" taken from the Bible and from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (the Christian Science textbook), by Mary Baker Eddy.

This year's Thanksgiving readings include Jesus' well-known injunction, as recorded by Matthew: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" — and these lines from Science and Health: "God is not moved by the breath of praise to do more than He has already done, nor can the infinite do less than bestow all good, since He is unchanging wisdom and Love."

American Day

Editor of The Graphic:

William Sidney Porter (better known as O. Henry) wrote in "The Trimmed Lamp": "There is one day when all we Americans who are not self-made men go back to the old home to eat salter biscuits and marvel how much nearer to the porch the old pump looks than it used to . . . Thanksgiving Day . . . is the one day that is purely American."

Another purely American aspect of Thanksgiving is the things we have to be thankful for and to recall these blessings each year, particularly at this time.

Let us share with you our thanks for the liberty and independence our forefathers willed us, for freedom of thought and action, for our magnificent free enterprise system (whose competitive machinery produces more and better goods and services for more people than any other system ever conceived) and for the freedom to have and express ideas and thoughts without coercive restraint.

We ask God to give us the strength, the determination and the fortitude to defend and uphold these blessings for ourselves and our posterity, and for the privilege of living in these United States and contributing our part to making this Republic even greater.

Thanksgiving is truly an American Day.

Sincerely,

A Wonderful Woman

Editor of The Graphic:

She has a big job to do and she does it extremely well. She is efficient and intelligent, always accessible and most cooperative.

In her daily routine she is called upon to deal with human beings of all ages from 5 to 55. Yet she does it with a quiet charm and grace and tact.

Around these parts, admiration for her is unanimous!

She fills in wherever she is needed and always with a smile.

Her dainty hands and feet adequately fill a man-size job—yet she never loses her femininity.

She is a brilliant executive, a capable administrator, and a trusted confidante.

I would like to say a public "Thank You" from her fortunate pupils and their grateful parents—to a wonderful woman—the principal of the Spaulding School—Miss Helen Punch.

Billboard In Auburndale Is Protested

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs has vigorously protested the action of the State's Outdoor Advertising Authority in permitting the erection of a large lighted billboard on the roof of the building at 349 Auburn street in Auburndale Square.

The Mayor lodged his strong protest after a number of Auburndale civic leaders and residents expressed sharp objection to the billboard, maintaining that it will detract from the appearance of Auburndale Square.

They complained that the billboard, which is to be 40 feet in length and 20 feet high, will be visible from many neighboring homes as well as the Centenary Methodist Church, the Auburndale Library and the Auburndale Club. The billboard faces the toll road.

Mayor Gibbs has requested that a new hearing be held on the installation of the controversial billboard.

A conference with officials of the Outdoor Advertising Division has been scheduled by the Mayor for 11 a.m. Wednesday (Nov. 24). Reps. Theodore D. Mann and Edward M. Dickson assisted Gibbs in arranging the meeting.

A large delegation of Newton civic leaders and residents intend to attend the conference. Because the hearing rooms are small, however, many of them will be obliged to wait outside while spokesmen for them present arguments against allowing the billboard to remain where it is being erected.

A committee of Auburndale civic and public leaders have urged residents of their area to attend Wednesday's meeting or to write letters of protest to the Outdoor Advertising Division at 80 Boylston street, Boston.

At the same time they cautioned those planning to attend Wednesday's conference against being either noisy or disorderly.

The statement urging opposition to the billboard was issued by Alderman David W. Jackson, director of the Auburndale Village Improvement Society; Rep. Dickson, Benjamin F. Shattuck, president of the Newton Conservators; Mrs. Roger W. Cabot, secretary of the Auburndale Club; Mrs. George C. James, a member of the board of directors of the Auburndale Garden Club; and Mrs. Albert E. Holdridge, a member of the Auburndale Woman's Club.

They said in part:

"Many Auburndale residents and organizations are concerned about the billboard for a variety of reasons and are planning to attend the rehearing to state their disapproval. They seek support of like-minded persons attending and in writing letters to the Outdoor Advertising Division.

"The issues that have come to the forefront in this seemingly local matter are of both state-wide and national import. The billboard is the first overt attempt in the City of Newton to line the sides of the Turnpike Extension with billboards. As such, many persons feel that it sets a precedent, the expansion of which may be difficult or impossible to prevent.

"Other citizens are concerned that the acts of the Outdoor Advertising Division in this instance represent an over-ruling of the expressed desire of a community, a trampling of the rights of the people and a destruction of the moneymaking potential of the community.

"In a world greatly shrunk by the airplane, sons and daughters, fathers and mothers, babies and the aged can travel long distances just to be home on Thanksgiving Day. And time comes around.

"The setting in this community this Thanksgiving will be much different when the Plymouth colonists and the friendly Indians sat down together for that first festive feast more than three centuries ago.

"But the spirit of the day will be much the same. We will be giving thanks for all that is ours in a land of plenty and a land of freedom.

"The traditional turkey, the delightful odors which escape the kitchen, the laughter of a family brought together at the table is Thanksgiving.

"On the national level, the granting of this approval runs directly counter to the main stream of national thought and policy concerning the beautification of our highways, cities and countryside.

"It flies in the face of Newton's traditional and statutory policy to limit the use of signs primarily for the identification and function of business establishments.

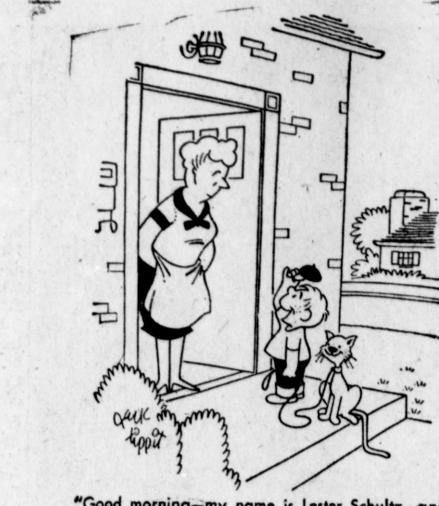

"The background to the controversy is that a petition seeking the right to erect the billboard was rejected by Mayor Gibbs and the Board of Aldermen last December.

A hearing on the matter was held last July by the Outdoor Advertising Agency, but many Auburndale residents say they knew nothing about the hearing.

City Solicitor Matt B. Jones appeared at the July hearing to record the opposition of the city.

Municipal officials also complain that they were not notified that the Outdoor Advertising Authority had granted the Donnelly Advertising Co. the right to put up the billboard.

Mark L. Brenner, 21 Park Ave., Newton, has received an advanced M.S. degree in Plant Soil and Science at the University of Massachusetts in Russian.

Lincoln. Governor Bradford's people had established something that should be made an American tradition, he felt.

He was right.

Today Thanksgiving is one holiday that is strictly and purely American—unlike any other holiday in the year. We must share Christmas and its joys with most of the rest of the world. Our Independence Day celebrations have their counterparts in many countries.

It's a holiday that has inefably spiritual and wholesomely material values because it reflects a grateful American when he's at his best — that's when he takes time out to examine the blessings he enjoys.

Down through the years some of the finest of our artists have sought to capture the spirit of Thanksgiving on canvas. Somehow, even those of admittedly great genius, seem to miss their clearly evident objective.

At the Ong Shabbat that will follow the service, a question-answer period will be provided for those in attendance. The public is cordially invited to attend.

There sprung up rivalries between high schools which have been hallowed by the years. Today those games are part and parcel of Thanksgiving. Yet, with few exceptions, those games are scheduled in the mornings. For the focus of Thanksgiving Day is that time when the whole family sits down to dinner.

The Ward 8 Democratic Committee will hold an informal reception for Mayor-Elect Monte G. Basbas on Monday evening, November 29, at the Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus St., at 9:15 p.m.

Ward 8 Committee chairman Sidney S. Bronstein has announced that a short business meeting will be held before the social hour.

Committee members in charge of refreshments and program planning are Catherine Reardon, Barbara Wise, David Yarosh and David Birnbaum.

They said in part:

West Newton Woman's Club will hold its annual Scholarship Bridge for the benefit of some worthy girl senior at Newton High School on Friday afternoon, Dec. 3, at 12:30 o'clock.

In announcing the event, the club points out an innovation this year in that it will hold small group meetings in the homes of members for the Scholarship Bridges.

The following 10 women will open their homes and be hostesses for the bridges under the new plan: Mrs. Albert Burgess, Mrs. George H. Fernald, Mrs. Clifford E. James, Miss M. Elizabeth Kilburn, Mrs. Albert M. Kreider, Mrs. John F. Leonard, Mrs. Ernest O. Seyforth, Mrs. George C. Thompson, Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver and Mrs. Thomas S. Williams.

Commenting on the new plan, Mrs. Theodore C. Danner, club treasurer and one of the chairmen for the day, said, "We dream of new ideas, we dare to carry out these new ideas, and we do hope our dreams will be fulfilled."

Other chairmen for the bridge, Mrs. John F. Leonard and Mrs. Thomas S. Williams, will be assisted by members of the Executive Board.

Dessert and coffee will be served, there will be attractive prizes, and at each of the homes there will be a gift table with home-made Christmas articles and decorations, providing a fine opportunity to do some holiday shopping.

In charge of reservations are Mrs. Leonard at Bl 4-5074, and Mrs. Danner at Bl 4-6699. Reservations should be made by Tuesday, Nov. 30.

Whiting DAR Chapter Sets December Meeting Program

Because fostering education is one of the chief aims of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, of Newton, at the December 6 meeting, will take a collection for Hillside School.

Each year the chapter gives a gift of money to this school, which is located in Marlboro and ministers to needy boys.

The December meeting of the chapter, held in the Workshop, 72 Columbus Street, Newton Highlands, and always a gala occasion, will begin with a 6:30 supper, prepared and served by the Executive Board. Following the supper a brief business meeting will be held.

"Christmas Customs in Colonial Times" is to be the theme of the program, which will climax the evening. An account of early holiday customs will be interspersed by early Christmas music, provided by Jennette Anderson, pianist, and Hope Anderson, soprano. At the end there will be a carol-sing.

Helping Hillside School, which is dependent upon private donations, has long been a special project of the Massachusetts Society, D.A.R. Located on a 300-acre farm, the school provides a good academic education for boys in grades three through eight. Boys admitted to Hillside, often orphans or children of broken homes, live and work in a healthy farm environment, and are trained in principles of citizenship and patriotism. Because many of the Councilors heard a panel discussion by foreign students, from Turkey, India, Tanzania, and Norway. Faculty members discussed,

If the Tigers play as they did against undefeated Walham High a week ago last Saturday, they could and should come up with a big victory Thanksgiving morning that would help to wipe out the memories of some of the setbacks they have suffered.

Coach Jim Ronayne agrees that on paper the teams are about even and that the outcome of the encounter must be regarded as a tossup.

He says that the team which makes the fewer mistakes—that fumbles the least, that has the fewer passes intercepted and the fewer penalties imposed against it—should emerge the winner.

Ronayne has been trying a little psychology to charge up his Newton High players.

On the bulletin board in the high school this week is a picture of Mickey Beard, former Newton quarterback, who last Saturday paced Dartmouth to its great upset victory over Princeton.

Three years ago, Brookline was undefeated and a heavy favorite as it went into its final game with Newton, but Beard played a great game and led Newton to a stunning 7-0 triumph.

Ronayne is hoping that some of Mickey Beard's drive—the drive which helped beat Brookline three years ago—will rub off on his boys who will be wearing Newton's colors this Thanksgiving.

Coach George Winkler is cautious but quietly confident about the game with Hingham at Dickinson Stadium the holiday morning.

"We know it's going to be one of the toughest games of the year," Winkler declared.

"We know we face a big challenge. That's a giving morning, but we have every confidence in our boys and every confidence that they can meet it," he asserted.

Newton South has a record of seven victories and one defeat, Hingham a record of six wins and two losses.

Hingham will come to Newton determined to shock and tame the Lions.

Last year Hingham was unbroken right down to Thanksgiving Day when it was topped, 22-12, by South.

Jewish Big Brother Group In Chestnut Hill Breakfast

Plans are well underway for the 46th annual Jewish Big Brother Association breakfast, to be held Sunday morning, Dec. 5, at the Chestnut Hill Country Club, it was announced by the president, Arthur B. Savel.

Said the president: "We hope this event will serve as a means of highlighting to the community the work JBBA has been doing since its inception in 1919 to help thousands of youngsters to a better way of life."

JBBA continues to respond to ever increasing communal needs, by making "expansion of services" the key to this year's activities. A dynamic scholarship program has been instituted for the Little Brothers. It is designed to benefit fatherless children, who live in low income situations, by providing them with funds needed to begin or complete their education. In recent months the Benjamin J. Kaplan Scholarship and the James J. Gouse Scholarship Awards were among those established to help these youngsters achieve their educational and vocational goals.

In addition, an ongoing program of counseling has been instituted by the JBBA to assist the mothers of Little Brothers in adjusting to life without a husband. During sessions held with a specially trained counselor, some of the problems that arise in fatherless families are explored in depth.

Another aspect of JBBA's program for the coming year includes a trip to Europe for JBBA members, their immediate families, and friends. The JBBA party will depart from Boston on Wednesday, April 20. The itinerary calls for stopovers in Paris and Amsterdam and 23 days in Europe before returning for Boston on Saturday, May 14. Only a limited number of tickets are available and members are urged to make their reservations.

The JBBA is a constituent agency of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston.

34 Local Clergymen Take Stand To Defend Dissent

Thirty-four Newton clergymen joined with scores of other religious leaders throughout metropolitan Boston this week in expressing concern for a Protection of the Right of Dissent in America and urged the churches and denominations that constitute the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA to submit recommendations to the government about the role of the nation in the war in Viet Nam.

The statements signed by clergymen were produced by the Sixth World Order Study Conference of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA which convened in St. Louis, Missouri, October 20-23, 1965.

The statements do not represent official policy of the National Council of Churches or the member denominations but are being submitted by the Study Conference to the National Council and churches for appropriate action.

Delegates to the World Order Study Conference from the Boston area included two Newton clergymen, the Rev. Paul Deats, Professor of Social Ethics at Boston University School of Theology, and the Rev. Harold R. Fray Jr., minister of the Eliot Church.

The Massachusetts Council of Churches and local denominational headquarters have submitted the various Conference statements to churches and clergymen of the state, but the statements dealing with the Protection of the Right of Dissent and Viet Nam have received particular attention with the request that individual clergymen express their own concern to the government and the community through these two statements.

Many signers of the statements have expressed their personal concern for the preservation of the right of dissent at a time when responsible efforts to question the action of the United States government in the Viet Nam war have been labeled unpatriotic and a source of aid and comfort to the enemy. The controversy over the peace overtures made by Hanoi in 1964 underscore for many the need for public debate and the right of dissent when conscience demands.

The two statements were circulated to Newton clergymen by Dr. John H. Scammon, a member of the faculty of the Andover Newton Theological Seminary and President of the Newton Council of Churches and by the Rev. Harold R. Fray Jr., the Chairman of the Social Concerns Commission of the Newton Council of Churches.

Vietnam and the Right of Dissent

The Sixth World Order Study Conference was convened by the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA in St. Louis, Missouri, October 20-23, 1965. The 500 delegates present represented 30 Protestant denominations. In addition associate delegates included

"1. Request the government of North and South Vietnam and other interested parties, including the National Liberation Front, immediately to begin negotiations for a cease fire agreement under UN supervision on the basis of the mutual interest of sparing the population further and frightful suffering."

"2. Halt the bombing of North Vietnam for an indefinite period in an effort to create more favorable circumstances for negotiations to begin. At the same time efforts should be made to induce the North Vietnamese government to stop sending military personnel and material into South Vietnam."

"3. Alleviate the desperate plight of non-combatants in South Vietnam by immediately restricting aerial bombardments within the country to military targets."

"4. Request the U.N. to convene a peace conference, with participation by all interested governments, with representation for the National Liberation Front, to explore the basis of a settlement of the long-term issues, and the means to give such a settlement effective international guarantees."

"5. Make clear that a primary objective of such a settlement is the independence of South Vietnam from outside interference, with complete liberty to determine the character of its future government by the result of a peaceful, free and varified choice of its people. The choice might include whether it wishes to establish a coalition of Nationalists and National Liberation Front, or whether it wishes to be united with North Vietnam (perhaps through a plebiscite) or to operate as an independent, neutral and non-aligned state, or whether it wishes to join the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization."

"6. Encourage the government to get the road into the real estate business with its tremendous profits could be closer to you for ever. You would be required to pass 2 exams and serve a 1 year's apprenticeship before becoming a broker."

ter was stolen from another car, according to manager

Bernard Bruehm.

Helen McDonough of 20 Channing St., Newton, told police that a blanket and clothing were taken from her automobile while it was parked behind store in Newtonville.

Two Newton boys, one 17 and the other 15, were arraigned in Newton court on charges of robbing two other boys of $1.45 with a switchblade. Their cases were continued until Friday.

Victims of the robbery, according to police, were Howard Mintz, 15, of 42 Sevland Rd., Newton Centre, from whom $1.20 was taken, and Howard C. Richmond, 15, of 32 Littlefield Rd., Newton Centre, from whom 29 cents was taken.

The Mintz and Richmond boys told police that one of the other boys pointed a switchblade at them and demanded their money.

Police alleged that the 17-year-old boy they arrested took three automobiles with the assistance of the 15-year-old youth and that both boys took a recorder from another car.

Sergeant John J. Bartinelli reported that he found a knife with a two-inch blade in the grass where the Mintz and Richmond boys allegedly were robbed.

Instructors for the woodworking are Mr. Quintiliani on Monday and Mr. Bride on Fridays. Ballet, baton twirling, and children's art also have a small number of vacancies.

Physical fitness for males of all ages is underway each Thursday evening at Warren Junior High School. Teams to represent the Newton Community Center in league competition of basketball will be selected at the workouts. In-

Our Lady's High Injury Victim

Our Lady's Eleven were severely handicapped Sunday by the absence of starting halfbacks Tim Miller and John O'Keefe in all but five of the plays in the game with Watertown's St. Patrick's High at Allison Park.

Miller, whose pelvis was fractured last week against Xavierian, made no appearance in the contest. A severe right ankle injury put O'Keefe out of the game in its fifth play.

The lack of these strong contestants, plus superb football contributed to the opposition by Quarterback John Sullivan and Skip Downing, a runner of considerable ability, resulted in a lopsided score of 22 to 6, with Our Lady's on the short end.

All Newton Music School Sets Series of Concerts

The Parent's Association of the All Newton Music School, encouraged by the success of last Spring's benefit concert by The Boston

Trio at the opening of the School's new facilities, as well as the splendid acoustics of the concert hall, will sponsor a series of Chamber Music Concerts which will be open to the public.

The Chamber Music Committee is most fortunate to have secured the services of The Boston Trio and The Pro Arts Woodwind Quintet for two Sunday evening concerts to be held at the All Newton Music School, 321 Chestnut Street, West Newton, on Monday, Nov. 29.

"Miz" Gifford and her neighbor friends will welcome all and help with the bidding at a silent auction sale of an array of antique and modern articles. Bidding will be limited to the hours between 10:30 a.m. and noon.

Shopping at a dry goods store will be a pleasure, and "Miz" Ewer, the proprietress, guarantees that there will be a wide variety of lovely gifts.

There will be many delicious and tempting prize-winning foods at the country food store, according to the proprietress, "Miz" Richards.

"Miz" Miller and neighbors will operate a farm kitchen lunch bar that will provide tasty meals at reasonable prices.

"Miz" Springer and "Miz" Waaleyn are getting some Newton women together for country dancing at noon, and "Miz" Dunning will amuse the gathering with a few poems written by club members. "Miz" Stobo will read futures, "Miz" Voss will set up tables and serve for a dessert bridge at 1 p.m., and there will be blue-ribbon table prizes.

"Miz" Rogers is scouring the country for door prizes, and "Miz" Marran and "Miz" Orrok have gathered pumpkins and corn stalks for creation of a country motif.

See "Miz" Brookhizer for tickets and be on hand early so as not to miss any of the fun.

Tufts Medical School Alumni In Fund Drive

Tufts University School of Medicine's Annual Alumni Fund Appeal has four Newton residents as members of the steering committee.

Dr. Lawrence B. Pearlmuter of 31 Buswell park, Newton, Dr. Leonard A. Cushman of 4 Lyman street, Newton Centre, and Dr. L. Walter Brown of 1730 Washington street, Auburndale, are graduates of Tufts Dental School. Dr. Pearlmuter was graduated in 1932, Dr. Cushman in 1948, and Dr. Brown in 1924.

With their area chairmen they will supervise alumni fund contributions toward a goal of $85,000, needed for dental and clinical research and student aid.

The fourth local member of the steering committee is Dr. Ralph A. Deterling Jr., of 141 North street, Newtonville, a physician. The Medical School Alumni has set a goal of $250,000 for student aid, laboratory equipment, faculty salaries and medical research.

Newton Woman Feted Through Member Drive

The annual membership drive conducted by the auxiliaries of Jewish Memorial Hospital will honor Mrs. Louis Hellmann of Newton, associated with the 256-bed chronic ill hospital for 38 years.

The New England Children's Book Clinic presented four outstanding children's authors who spoke on The New Look in Children's Books. Louis Darling showed slides of the illustrations from his new book: "The Gull's Way."

Jocelyn Arundel, petite African explorer, discussed the background for her book, "Wildlife of Africa." Jean Little, young Canadian author, spoke about her book: "Home from Far." Veteran author and illustrator Munro Leaf gave an inspiring talk on his experiences in traveling around the world for the U. S. Department of State.

Mary Silva Cosgrave, freelance writer, and former editor and children's librarian, gave the annual Hewins-Melchior lecture on the life of Thomas Bailey Aldrich. This lecture is given each year in honor of Caroline M. Hewins, pioneer in library work with children. It also honors Frederick G. Melcher, a former Newton resident, who became a publisher and founder of the Newbery and Caldecott Awards which are given annually to the author and illustrator of the most distinguished books for children, published in the United States each year.

A number of prominent guests and dignitaries and national and local ADL leaders have been invited and a capacity crowd is expected. A short business meeting will precede the presentation of the ADL playlette and a collage will round out the evening's activities. Guests are welcome to attend.

Newtonites included in the cast are Helen Copman and Irving Matross. The production staff includes Annette Matross, Joel Roseland and Gloria Rosenzweig, all of Newton. Lodge president is Henry Goldberg of Chestnut Hill. Chapter program chairman is Mrs. Stanley Gaffin of Newton.

Beginning at 9 a.m., the sale will feature bric-a-brac and new merchandise. Mrs. Milton Gray and Mrs. William Hecht are chairmen for the event.

Fight Long War On Ravages Of Cancer

An unique woman's group, comprising many from Newton, unaffiliated with any national organization, has been raising funds to serve cancer research in the Greater Boston area for 18 years.

Most recent contribution of these dedicated women, members of the Aid to Cancer Research, was the donation of a Fragilograph to the New England Deaconess Hospital.

Representing the organization at the recent official presentation in Joslin Library at the Hospital were, Mrs. Alan Bernson, Mrs. Harry J. Braverman, Mrs. Sumner S. Fox, Mrs. Alvan V. Ludwig, Mrs. Melvin Norris, all from Newton, and Mrs. Alden M. Zieman of Framingham.

Dr. Shields Warren, director of the Cancer Research Institute at the New England Deaconess Hospital, and Dr. Gilbert H. Friedell, research associate in pathology at the hospital, accepted the gift on behalf of the institution.

Hospital officials stated that the Fragilograph is a most welcome addition to the Cancer Research Institute.

It measures the weakness or fragility of red blood cells with an accuracy and speed that would be impossible for the most accomplished technician.

Dr. Gilbert H. Friedell, lectured to the ladies on the capabilities and uses of the machine and said that for years errors in fragility tests were so great that it was thought red blood cells were unaffected in cancer patients.

Researchers now realize there is a definite difference between the fragility of red blood cells in cancer and normal patients. The machine, which is one of the few such instruments in this area, may provide a basis for our further understanding of cancer.

An Advisory Board, of which Dr. Shields Warren is this year's chairman, evaluates petitions which the Aid for Cancer Research receives and guides them toward the best utilization of their funds.

The women raise funds for equipment, fellowships, scholarships and special research grants mainly through their annual 2-day luncheon and fashion show. It will be held this coming year on May 2nd and 3rd at the Sidney Hill Country Club in Chestnut Hill.

Marc Warsoe of 22 Rowena Rd., Newton Centre, a senior at the New Hampton School, N.H., has been elected to the New Hampton chapter of the Cum Laude Society. Besides being on the honor roll, he is a member of the Debate Club and editor of the school paper.

Newtonites In Rehearsal For Roles In Play

Two Newton residents, Edna White and Paul Gillis, are currently rehearsing for the Hovey Players' production of "The Man Who Came To Dinner" which will be presented December 3 and 4 at the Kennedy Junior High School, 655 Lexington street, Waltham, at 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. White has been cast in the comic role of the rather strange "Harriet Stanley."

A professional entertainer with singing and dancing routines and as a monologist, Mrs. White commenced her career touring in England, Canada and the United States with a troupe organized by Billy de Wolfe. With thirty years of theatre experience, she has played a variety of parts in musicals and comedies and has assumed many character roles.

For five seasons she performed at the Deerfield Summer Stock Theatre in Harrison, Maine. She was associated with the Charles Street Players at its inception. She has also appeared in many productions of the Auburndale Players and with the Newton Players.

Mrs. White is well-known in Newton and Waltham for her monologues, performing at various women's clubs.

Paul Gillis assumes the role of "Dr. Bradley" — attending physician for "Sheridan Whiteside" and author of "The Story of an Humble Practitioner or Forty Years an Oily Doctor." The current production marks the second time onstage that Mr. Gillis has carried a black bag and wielded such props as a stethoscope, hypodermic needle, etc. In "Send Me No Flowers," as produced by the Waltham group, he was assigned the part of the hilarious "Dr. Morrissey."

Other credits include such roles as "Mr. MacLaren" in "Brigadoon," "Baptista" in "Kiss Me Kate," and "Mr. Lipari" in "A View From the Bridge. He was also seen in "The Big Knife," "My Three Angels," and "Guys and Dolls."

Tickets may be obtained at the box office the evening of performance.

Calls For Action On Unsightly Auto Graveyards

Herbert Abramson, Newton automobile dealer, in the course of a keynote speech in Halifax, Nova Scotia, proposed an international automobile industry campaign to provide leadership for the Johnson administration's Highway Beautification bill.

His address was given before 2500 industry representatives at the National Convention of Canadian Auto Dealers.

Abramson, winner of the Grand National Benjamin Franklin Award as the nation's leading car dealer, called on the industry's associations to launch Operation Pride, a program to reduce industry debris everywhere.

In his call to arms, Abramson noted, "One of the chief offenders singled out on discussions about the Highway Beautification bill is our industry, because of the unsightly automobile junkyards which mar the attractiveness of our communities and the repugnant automobile graveyards which proliferate our scenic highways.

"We all know these eyesores exist, and each one of us has contributed either directly or indirectly to their presence. Industry statesmanship . . . the same kind of statesmanship we have exhibited in our automobile dealer associations in promoting highway safety and in combatting fraudulent advertising," Abramson emphasized.

Michael M. Mahoney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland D. Mahoney, 6 Irving St., Newton Centre, a dean's list student at St. Michael's College, Winooski Park, Vt., is one of 22 seniors whose names are in the 1965-66 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." A graduate of B.C. High School, he has been nominated for both Woodrow Wilson and Danforth Fellowships at St. Michael's. He is editor-in-chief of The Michaelian, student weekly newspaper.

Local Residents Giving Time To Holly Fair At Old Brattle House

A number of Newton residents have devoted considerable time and effort to assure success for the Holly Fair in the Old Brattle House, Cambridge, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 3 and 4, for the benefit of Cambridge Center for Adult Education.

The old house is expected to resound with festive gaiety on this, the 15th annual Yuletide event.

Serving at the snack bar, a popular and convenient feature of the fair, will be Miss Priscilla Carter of 602 Centre street, Newton; Mrs. Bar Lahti of 384 Linwood avenue, Newtonville, and Mrs. Carol Warr of 90 Roundwood road, Newton Upper Falls.

Traditional highlights of the Holly Fair include a steaming cup of good cheer from the wassail bowl, Country Store counters stocked with Christmas goodies, jams, jellies and fresh herbs. On Friday there will be homemade rolls, breads, pies and cookies featured at an old time bake sale, and on Saturday a table of delectable Continental specialties will offer Viennese pastries and holiday favorites from many foreign lands.

On treasure tables will be antiques, silver, fine linens and china. The bargain hunter will find a unique collection of white elephants and also a thrift table featuring new items at very low prices.

Attractive and varied hand-crafted Enamels made by students of the Center will be on sale including work by Gail Bayles, 39 N. Gate Park and Mrs. Paul Sidel, 66 Forest avenue, both of West Newton.

Three special and exciting films will entertain young folk, leaving mother free to shop and browse.

Nourishment to suit every appetite will be provided by the snack bar, Holly Fair kitchen and spicy wassail bowl.

The old Brattle House is at 42 Brattle street, Cambridge.

On Friday the hours will be from 1 to 9 p.m., and on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Raises -

Committeeman Frazier went on to predict that the way things are going, the time will come when only the very wealthy will be able to afford to live in Newton.

"I have every reason in the world to want the Newton school department to grow and prosper," he asserted. "On the other hand we must use some limitation in the school budget."

If the school wage hikes being requested are granted, they would cause an increase of slightly more than $1 on the city's tax rate.

Frazier's reference to the additional cost of close to $1 million for next year apparently referred to raises which became effective Sept. 1 but will be in effect for a full 12 months in 1966.

Serving as spokesman for the Newton Teachers Association was Miss Bonnie Allen, chairman of the teachers' Personnel Policies Committee.

Accompanying her to the meeting room were the following: Helen M. Ryan, Newton Teachers Association president; Henry Atkins, Underwood School; Warren W. Bechtold, Newton South High; Walter E. Beavers, Bigelow School; Henry S. Bissell, Newton High; Herbert J. Callahan, Peirce School; Robert B. Carr, Day School; Maureen A. Delaney, Williams School; Elizabeth Dohanian, Newton South High; Arlene Weeks Fair, Oak Hill School.
